FREE BLACKS IN VIRGINIA

by Barbara Brixey Wylie

"1810 June 9 – (No. 582) John Cross, a dark brown near black free negro man five feet 7 Inches high (in shoes), about 27 years old, has two scars on his right cheekbone born free. Cert of Reg. from the Clk [sic clerk of] City Richmond. re-entered 7th Nov. 1815"¹

This 1810 description of a friend's ancestor came from the "Registry of Free Negroes and Mulattoes in Petersburg, Virginia." It piqued my curiosity. I wanted to place John Cross in the context of his time. Life -- What was it like for free Blacks in Virginia?

How Many Blacks² in Virginia Were Free?

The 1790 Census records 201 Virginia households headed by free Blacks.³ For the period 1790-1800, Virginia had more free Negroes than any other state.⁴ According to Carter G. Woodson's, Free Negro Heads of Families in the United States in 1830, there were 7,800 of these households in Virginia.⁵ In 1860, there were almost as many freed[sic] Negroes as slaves in Virginia.⁶ Nationwide, approximately 10% of African Americans were free⁷ before the Civil War began.

What Were the Laws Regarding Free Persons of Color?

- 1662: The mother's status determined whether the child was free. Children born to enslaved women were slaves regardless of who their father was.
- 1699: Newly freed slaves were required to leave the colony within six months of manumission (taken from an actual document, "...with full liberty to act and manage for themselves and to enjoy all the benefits of their labour according to the laws and customs of the State of Indiana ...)
- 1732: The six-month period was eliminated.
- 1793: Every free negro and mulatto was required to register with the clerk of the city or county where he/she lived.
- 1806: All newly-freed slaves had to leave Virginia within twelve months.
- 1815: The court could allow slaves "freed for extraordinary merit" to remain in Virginia.
- 1837: The court could allow "well-behaved" freed slaves to remain in Virginia.⁸

Summertime brings hot temperatures in Texas. I hope the hot temperatures don't keep you from some of our sensational events going on this summer. We are testing the waters on holding our general meetings and CIG meetings all year round. We got off to a great start in June with interesting topics, engaging speakers, and good attendance at both!

We've also kicked off Internet workshops, hosted a July Lock-in, and our Summer Institute (August) that continue to inspire many. I am a high energy person (for those of you who haven't noticed) that finds I'm using some of the information I have learned from DGS programs during my travels to expand my family tree. I hope I can inspire others to seek out their ancestors, as well as new LIVING cousins.

I invite you to come in, out of the searing Texas heat, and join us for some cool events that may enable you to make some HOT finds.

Correction: Last month I had a "part-timers" moment and wrote: "Ann M. Williams, VP, The Dallas Journal, would like to thank Barbara Baylis,..." As wonderful as Barbara Baylis is, she has had her hands full planning our wonderful Summer Institute. Barbara Ware, was the great lady that I meant to acknowledge. She has continuously dedicated her time and love of genealogy, over many years, by contributing research and helping to edit our Dallas Journal.

July's Lock-in was a huge success and lots of fun for the 70 attendees. We want to convey special thanks to our great 8th floor library staff – Heather Williams, Lloyd Bockstruck, Sammie, Lee, Lea Markoff – and for the first time, the great 7th floor library staff - Carol Roark and Amie Treuer. Elizabeth Perry and Ann M. Williams kept the registration process quick and entertaining, and Susan Morris, Shirley Sloat, Ed Millis, Shirley Hawn, and Marti Fox ensured wonderful grazing goodies for the researchers all night long.

HAPPENINGS AROUND DPL's 8TH FLOOR VOLUNTEER DESK

Susan Morris has openings for volunteers to assist on DPL's Eighth Floor:

3 rd Sunday	1:00 p.m. – 5:00 p.m.
2 nd & 3rd Friday	3:00 p.m. – 5:00 p.m.
2 nd Saturday	1:00 p.m. – 3:00 p.m.
Enjoy working with gre	eat Genealogy Department staff and helping others with their research.

Susan is also looking for two volunteers to take on the Hospitality Committee Chair position. Elizabeth Deihl is the most capable assistant of this Committee. The Hospitality Committee provides drinks and snacks prior to the monthly General Meetings (5:30 p.m. - 7:00 p.m.) and assists the Executive Vice-President of Fundraising with refreshments for the two Lock-Ins each year as well as the three Lectures in 2005.

Please call me at 214-942-4051 and take advantage of these volunteer opportunities. (eve) or email: Volunteer@dallasgenealogy.org

HAMILTON, JR., HANCE HENRY died on May 6, 2004. Dr. Hamilton was formerly a chemistry and mathematics instructor at Eastfield College in Mesquite (1970-89) and spent his retirement years in Dallas. He was preceded in death by his daughter, Kathryn, and is survived by his wife, Marybelle, son, Bruce, daughter-in-law, Cynthia, and grandchildren,

Elizabeth and Bradford. Dr. Hamilton was born February 23, 1924 in Jackson, Tennessee, to Hance Henry Hamilton, Sr. of San Antonio and Myriam Rebecca Griffin of Jackson. His parents moved to Fort Worth in 1926 and to San Antonio in 1929, where Hance attended elementary through high school. He enrolled at The A&M College of Texas in the fall 1942 and enlisted in the Army Reserve Corps. Called to active duty at the end of his freshman year, he received basic training and was subsequently assigned to the 91st Chemical Mortar Battalion at Camp Swift, Texas. The battalion crossed Omaha Beach in the fall of 1944 and went into combat on Christmas Eve near the France-Luxembourg border. During the Battle of the Bulge and subsequent operations, Sergeant Hamilton was awarded eight citations including the Bronze Star and European Theater Medal with three battle stars. Upon release from active duty November 11, 1945, he returned to Texas A&M, receiving a B.S. in Management (Industrial) Engineering in January 1949. During his senior year, on June 23, 1948, he married Marybelle Stoltzfus of Tuleta, Texas. The Hamiltons entered the laundry and dry cleaning business with Hance's father in Beeville, Texas, founding the BEE-CLEAN Linen and Uniform Service. In 1964, after his father's death, he sold the business and returned to Texas A&M for graduate studies in chemistry, being awarded a Ph.D. in 1969. In retirement, he compiled several detailed family genealogies, was a member of the General Society of Mayflower Descendants, the Clan Hamilton Society, the Hamilton National Genealogical Society, the Dallas Genealogical Society; and the American Chemical Society. He was a Master Mason and life long Republican. Inurnment will be at Glenwood Cemetery, Beeville, TX.

BLAND, JEANETTE MAXINE died on June 27, 2004, after a long battle with cancer. She was born on January 24, 1929, at Farmersville, Texas. Her parents were John Douglas (Si) Bickley, and Linnie Gladys (Kimzey) Bickley. Both her parents were members of pioneer Collin County families. After attending public schools in Farmersville, Jeanette graduated as valedictorian in 1946. She then attended Texas State College for Women, where she earned a bachelor's degree in chemistry with honors in 1950. While working at Chance Vought Aircraft, she met her future husband, Richard Park Bland. They were married in 1953 and in 1957 moved to Chapel Hill, North Carolina, where Richard earned a doctorate degree from the University of North Carolina. They then lived in Baltimore where Richard taught statistics at Johns Hopkins University. In 1963, they moved back to the Dallas area where Richard taught statistics at SMU. Jeanette was an avid genealogist and was a member of the Collin County Genealogical Society, along with several other similar groups. She served as editor of the Collin Chronicles, the quarterly for the Genealogy Society for many years. She was also an active member of the Southern Methodist University Woman's Club and one of the founders of the Farmersville Historical Society. Jeanette's interest in Collin County history led her to compile and publish several books on Collin County history. One unique book is about African American history in the county. She and her sister also compiled and printed several books pertaining to Collin County history, family histories, the Grapevine Cookbook, and various publications of the Farmersville Historcal Society. Jeanette mapped the IOOF Cemetery and created a database containing the names and locations of the people interred there. Jeanette is survived by her husband, Richard; her sister Rita Roose and husband Afton; two nephews, their wives and children, Kenneth and Robin Roose, Melanie and Bryan; and Robert and Rose Roose, Rebecca and Christian, For inurnment information, contact Hurst's Fielder Baker Funeral Home, Farmersville, TX 972-782-6121.

2003-2004 DGS SOCIETY PROGRAMS

DGS General and Special Interest Group meetings are held at Dallas' J. Erik Jonsson Central Library 1515 Young Street in the Plaza level auditorium, unless otherwise noted.

Dallas Genealogical Society / August 2004 / Volume 28/ Number 7

DGS GENERAL MEETING MEETS ON THE FOURTH MONDAY

Our monthly meeting begins at 7:00 p.m. with our speaker presentation to follow about 7:30 p.m.

Come early. We begin at 6:00 p.m. with refreshments and fellowship, and at 6:30 p.m. everyone is invited to an informal Q & A session.

Monday, August 23 Speaker: Frances James Topic: "Dallas County: From the Ground Up"

Frances James, known as the Cemetery Lady of Dallas, has worked at preserving the cemeteries of Dallas County since her retirement from Southwestern Bell Telephone Company in 1978. Frances has written or helped write between 50 and 75 Texas Historical Marker applications for individuals, churches, cemeteries, and schools or other institutions.

Monday, September 27 Speaker: Paula Perkins Topic: Up Your Family Tree, DNA & Its Benefits When you hit the Brick Wall in Genealogy

There is a little known secret out there. This is the latest technique in genealogy research when you have reached the end of your rope and can't find any earlier ancestors. Currently there are close to 1000 Surname projects with 6500 unique surnames and when you have a name such as COOK the dilemma is from whom do you descend. How are Cook, Cooke, Koch tied to each other? With a simple test it helps in connecting many family lines, some even back to the immigrant ancestor.

Paula is a native Texan who has been actively involved with genealogy and area societies for over twenty years. Currently she is a First Vice President for the North Collin County Genealogical Society. She was appointed Federation of Genealogical Society Delegate for Collin County Genealogical Society. She has authored several articles to genealogical publications. Since its inception, she created and sponsors the Collin County TXGenWeb website.

AFRICAN AMERICAN GENEALOGY INTEREST GROUP (AAGIG) MEETS ON THE THIRD TUESDAY

The AAGIG promotes the study of Black genealogy and provides information through educational programs on tracing African-American roots. Reserve these dates on your calendar:

Tuesday, September 21 Speaker: Eddie "Sarge" Stimpson Topic: "My Remembers: Collin County"

Eddie "Sarge" Stimpson was born in 1929, in Plano, Collin County, Texas where he was reared. After 21 years in the United States Army, Sarge returned to farm in Collin County.

In his first book "My Remembers: A Black Sharecropper's Recollections of The Depression" (1999), Black rural life during The Depression is depicted. Stories of the good times and the bad times that marked Sarge's life reflect the history of Collin County, Texas. The book is in its third printing.

Sarge's new book, "Remembers of Mose: The Life of Mose Stimpson and his Times," tells the story of Sarge's great grandfather. Sarge located Mose while searching for unmarked graves of the "Old Black Patriots,' emancipated slaves who helped build Collin County, which is now one of the wealthiest communities in the United States. By depicting Mose's life, many Texans are linked to shared historical events. His integrity and hard work influenced generations of his descendents.

Sarge Stimpson (75 years old) has an amazing memory and is a fascinating story teller. He will speak in the auditorium of the Central Library. Please join us.

COMPUTER INTEREST GROUP (CIG) MEETS ON THE FIRST TUESDAY

OUR PURPOSE: Explore the use and expand our knowledge of computer technology as we search, collect, manage, and publish information related to genealogy.

Tuesday, September 14*

*2nd Tuesday due to FGS Conference in Austin Speaker: Beau Sharbrough Topic: "Digital Photo Restoration: Cleaning, Storing, Scanning, and Fixing Family Photos"

How do you clean old photos without damaging them? How do you scan them to best effect? How much can you enlarge photos, slides, and negatives? How do you fix photos that are too light, too dark, spotted, scratched, or torn? Are there easy ways to go beyond repair, and have some fun with old photos? The answers to these questions, and a discussion of how you can learn things about your ancestors by observing details, will be discussed in this presentation.

Bio: Beau Sharbrough is a product manager at MyFamily.com. He has been involved in genealogy and technology since the first GENTECH conference, with special emphasis on data exchange, record linking, and fooling with gadgets. He is coming to the DGS-CIG straight from the FGS conference in Austin, where he will speak on spreadsheets, PDA's, and restoring family photos. His new book "Digital Imaging Restoration" is a great resource.

Tuesday, October 5 Speaker: CIG Panel

Topic: The Master Genealogist program

Several CIG members who are well-versed in this data recording program will share their secrets and answer your queries.

DID YOU KNOW ...? compiled by Bill Deal

Mention the name "Langley, Virginia" and most people will associate the name with our nation's premiere spy agency, the CIA.

Langley originally referred to the Shropshire, England estate of Robert E. Lee's ancestral family, as well as the land now located near the intersection of Dolly Madison Boulevard and the Georgetown Pike, about seven miles northwest of the White House (D.C.).

Its post office, inside a country store, was closed by 1910 – more than 50 years prior to the completion of the headquarters of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA).

The small community of Langley was absorbed by the nearby town of McLean, Virginia, and so technically has no longer existed for almost a century.

SOMETIMES WE RECEIVE INCREDIBLE SUPPORT FROM NON-GENEALOGISTS

Thank You Party

Past and present members of the DGS Board met in the home of Shirley Sloat on May 15 to surprise and honor Mitch Mitchell with a special Certificate of Appreciation.

We wanted to acknowledge the huge number of hours he spent helping to acquire, install, and implement the Society's new computerized management system, iMIS.

Hard as it is to surprise Mitch, we did - he thought he and wife Tresa were coming for a small, quiet dinner.

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS TEXAS STYLE

People here in Texas have trouble with all those shalls and shall nots in the 10 Commandments. Folks here just aren't used to talking in those terms. So, some folks out in west Texas got together and translated the "King James" into "King Ranch" language: Ten Commandments, Cowboy Style.

Cowboy's Ten Commandments posted on the wall at Cross Trails Church in Fairlie, Texas.

- (1) Just one God.
- (2) Honor yer Ma & Pa.
- (3) No telling tales or gossipin'.
- (4) Git yourself to Sunday meeting.
- (5) Put nothin' before God.
- (6) No foolin' around with another fellow's gal.
- (7) No killin'.
- (8) Watch yer mouth.
- (9) Don't take what ain't yers.
- (10) Don't be hankerin' for yer buddy's stuff.

Now that's kinda plain an' simple don't ya think? Y'all have a good day!

FREE BLACKS IN VIRGINIA

by Barbara Brixey Wylie

Free Negroes could not:

- Serve as jurors or judges
- Vote or hold office⁹

Free Negroes were required to:

- Pay taxes. ¹⁰ (Look for them on the tax list.)
- Carry their Certificate of Registration with them. It was needed to travel within the county and to be paid for work. A Black or Mullato found without his certificate was assumed to be a runaway slave.¹¹
- Register when they moved to another city or county. (That's why John Cross' entry recorded that his certificate was from Richmond.)
- Update registration at specified intervals. City dwellers had to register annually. Others had to register every three years.¹²

Yes, There Were Free Black Slaveholders

- Some free Blacks were typical slave owners.
- Anecdotal stories report that a few worked the system rather creatively-purchasing a potential wife and, if she proved hard to get along with, selling her and buying another. Or, in the case of a Cumberland Co., Va., man, selling his enslaved wife after she stole his Certificate of Registration and gave it to her paramour. 13
- Most of the slaves owned by free Blacks were their own family members.¹⁴ Purchasing a spouse, child, parent or sibling from a slaveholder gave the enslaved family comparative freedom while member circumventing the law that required newlyfreed persons to leave Virginia.¹⁵

YOU DIDN'T THROW THE BABY OUT...BUT,

To: The Dallas Morning News, Texas Living Editor

You have been making significant changes in our Dallas Morning News.

I have followed these and done my best to adapt, despite the uncomfortable feeling that comes when someone "moves my cheese."

The good news is that you are keeping the Lloyd Bockstruck genealogy column that is read by the large and active group of genealogists in the Dallas-Ft Worth area.

The bad news is that you've moved it from Saturday to Sunday. Which is acceptable except that lots of readers are continuing to look in the Saturday edition and, when they don't find Lloyd's column, are assuming that you've discontinued it. And they think you've thrown the baby out with the bathwater.

Please fix this problem by placing a small insert in the "usual" page of the Saturday edition that says that the [Lloyd Bockstruck's] column has been moved to Sunday.

Thanks for listening. Shirley Sloat, Dallas, TX 214-349-4718

CAN YOU SUPPORT STARTING UP A RETIREMENT HOME GROUP?

I've been asked by a couple living in the Presbyterian Village North retirement community if anyone in DGS could help set up a genealogy group there. Seems that there are quite a few interested people (and probably several who belong to DGS), but they need a guiding light! Could it be you? They are south of Forrest Lane and west of Greenville Avenue at 8600 Skyline Drive, Dallas, TX, (214) 355-9001.

NEWS FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE Family History Professionals Meet to Develop Successful Business Skills

Austin is the place "where family history professionals meet" this fall to develop business skills. This one-day, seminar-filled event is sponsored by the Association of Professional Genealogists (APG). The Seventh Annual Professional Management Conference (PMC) will take place on Wednesday, September 8, just prior to the FGS conference.

The PMC helps beginning to veteran professional genealogists, librarians, researchers, teachers, writers and others in family history to balance a variety of skills necessary to run a successful business. PMC registration and program details are found at the APG website: www.apgen.org.

Five in-depth PMC lecturers will cover these topics:

- "Just a Few Ways to Get the Ink on the Paper," by Craig R. Scott, CGRS.
- "Effective Communications in the Age of Technology," Michael J. Leclerc.
- "Quality, Time, and Completion: Developing a Research Plan," (two parts) J. Mark Lowe, CG.
- "College and Adult Education Level Teaching," John W. Konvalinka, CGRS, CGL.

 "Applying the Genealogical Proof Standard in Difficult Situations: Client Research with Unexpected Results," Helen F. M. Leary, CG.

Contact: Kathleen W. Hinckley, CGRS, Executive Director, Association of Professional Genealogists P.O. Box 350998, Westminster, CO 80035-0998 Phone 303-422-9371, fax 303-456-8825, e-mail: admin@apgen.org

We would love to put a group together to motorcoach down to Austin... We will have lots of fun before the conference even starts – meet new people, enjoy old friends, play games, enjoy a nap, share "hunting" stories, and all in the comfort of a clean, chauffeured motorcoach!

Interested? Contact Marti Fox at Newsletter@dallasgenealogy.org or call 972-418-9776.

Provide:

- your name and number of passengers

Did vou know Brookhaven College. Mountain View College (Wed. afternoons), and Richland College offer several genealogy classes each fall?

Contact the registrar's office or pick up a catalogue on campus for more details.

We also listed some specific dates in our Regional & National Events section on page136.

STAYING ALIVE...

The Houston Chronicle has had their annual shakeup of editors and the Houston Section has a new editor. My weekly genealogy column has been in the Houston Chronicle. It was taken offline this past weekend. Is this an annual trend? It was Spring 2003 when we last fought for this column. Last vear's response regarding the canceled column overwhelmed the editors -- they heard from Houstonians, Texans, and even readers from outside Texas

There is a whole new crop of editors who evidently don't remember last year. So, here we go again!

If I had my druthers, I would prefer it to run in the Saturday edition of the Houston Section, as opposed to the This Week section which is not as widely circulated - not circulated in newsstand or outside the Houston metro area editions.

Write and let The Houston Chronical know you want this column! I would appreciate a copy or blind copy of your emails.

FROM OUR READERS

www.genealogy-links.org

This incredible resource site is owned and operated by Teslacorp as a public service to the genealogy community. This site contains a collection of links to help you make use of the numerous genealogy resources on the internet, i.e., Canadian resources, US resources, US census, Search the Internet ("How to" sites), LDS Ancestors, LDS to Zion, and Miscellaneous Info (wow! - if you need it, it is here!).

Most of the sites are free. Other sites that have a cost will state the fee.

There are links to Ancestry.com which is free at the Family History Library and at Family History Centers in the United States and Canada.

"Click" on the specific reference and the link is automatic.

Please contact teslacorp@warnes.net if you have trouble with any of the links included on the site, or if you have suggestions for additional links.

DeSoto Parish History - Volume II is now complete

A limited number of books will be published for $50 and can be ordered from DeSoto Parish Tourist Bureau, P.O. Box 1327, Mansfield, Louisiana, 71052, with an additional $5 shipping and handling charge or over the counter at the DeSoto Parish Tourist Bureau, 101 N. Washington Ave.

Volume I focused mostly on families. Volume II features churches, communities, towns, villages, doctors, mayors, postmasters, families, and much other information concerning the history of DeSoto Parish. There are articles on the dairy and lumber industries as well as articles on the families involved. A section concerning the medical doctors of the parish is also of interest. Many families are included as well as beautiful pictures and illustrations. In addition and a major feature of Volume II is an eighty page section dedicated to veterans with the hometown of each listed, role in the military service, and dates of service. The book is divided into sections with the artwork done by Eugenia Manning.

In addition, a limited number of Volume I has been reprinted for $50 per volume with $5 for shipping and handling charge.

I THOUGHT I WAS HELPING!

On DPL's 8th floor there are brown racks at the end of the stacks for books you pull and read through. I always thought the purpose was to have the staff ensure that the books were re-filed properly.

Well, guess what? The librarians also use this process to count the number of books used by the patrons of each section. Then the city uses these numbers to determine staffing and funding for each section.

So, when I was politely trying to help, by re-filing my resources, I was really not helping the Genealogy section's cause at all.

So cut it out! Do NOT replace the books in the stacks...put them in the brown racks for the staff to count as resources used.

DGS SPRING 2005 LECTURE SERIES Shirley Sloat, Exec VP

A key emphasis for the three DGS Spring 2005 Lecture series will be on methodology. Whether you are a seasoned or even a professional researcher, a novice, or something in-between, and no matter what geographical area you are currently exploring, you can profit from receiving methodology tips and techniques.

This year we will be enjoying day-long Saturday lectures by three experts who come wellrecommended for the content, quality, and professionalism of their presentations.

We will be back in familiar territory for these lectures – the main auditorium of the J. Erik Jonsson Library in downtown Dallas. Seating is limited to 177 and we expect sell-out attendance, so register early in order to ensure attendance.

The easiest way, is to register for all three sessions at once – one effort, one envelope, one stamp, one check (3 @ $25 = $75). We expect to provide box lunches for an additional $10 each for those who pre-order them, but you are welcome to "brown-bag it," should that be your preference.

In September, registration brochures will be available or you can register using the form that will be available on the DGS website.

THE SPEAKERS:

February 5, 2005: Claire Mire Bettag, CGRS,

CGL, M.A. (French)

Ms. Bettag is a professional genealogist based in Washington, D.C., and certified since 1997. A contributing author of Professional Genealogy, she has also written for the NGS Quarterly, APG Quarterly, and various Louisiana publications, winning the NGSQ "Award for Excellence" in 2000. Currently co-editor of the NGS Quarterly, she is also a Trustee of the Board for Certification of Genealogists, and a Director of the National Institute on Genealogical Research.

Her lecture venues include the National Archives, The National Institute for Genealogical Research, FGS and NGS national conferences, and Louisiana genealogical societies and repositories.

March 5, 2005: Emily Croom, BA and MA

degrees (history), BA (music)

An avid genealogist for more than thirty years, Ms. Croom, a Houston resident, is a member of NGS, the Association of Professional Genealogists, and several local and state genealogical societies. She has taught history and music and is currently teaching genealogy in live and online classes. Besides numerous articles in magazines and society journals, she has written a number of family histories and books on genealogical research, including the popular Unpuzzling Your Past, The Genealogist's Companion and Sourcebook, The Sleuth Book for Genealogists, and A Genealogist's Guide to Discovering Your African-American Ancestors. She has spoken at various events in our own state of Texas as well as Arkansas and Louisiana, and will be a speaker at the national FGS conference in Austin in September, 2004.

Emily attended our October, 2003 Lloyd Bockstruck Texas lecture, and many of our members enthusiastically suggested that we bring her to Dallas as a speaker.

April 2, 2005: Dr. Thomas W. Jones, Ph.D., CG, CGL

During the NGS Conference in the States (On May 21, 2004), Dr. Jones received the 2004 Grahame T. Smallwood Jr. Award of Merit by the Association of Professional Genealogists (APG). "He leads by example," according to the committee." "He has worked in a leadership role to increase genealogical standards through his commitment to volunteer activities, lecturing, writing, and teaching genealogical research methodology."

The Fairfax, Virginia resident is widely known for his lectures and articles on using case studies to demonstrate genealogical problem-solving and using the Genealogical Proof Standard, a method to evaluate the credibility of research conclusions.

Jones, co-editor of the National Genealogical Society Quarterly, has more than forty years of research and teaching experience in genealogy and education. He served as an APG trustee from 1999 through 2002 and is the immediate past president of the Board for Certification of Genealogists. A Certified Genealogist (CG) and Certified Genealogical Lecturer (CGL), Jones earned a doctorate degree in early childhood special education at the University of Pittsburgh. Since 1981, he has been a faculty member at Gallaudet University, Washington, D.C., where he instructs students specializing in multiple disabilities and early education.
