POSTAL PROBLEMS PLAGUE US: Last December's quarterly bulletin of the Seattle Genealogical Society reports that the Seattle post office lost that Society's entire mailing of the September issue of the bulletin, lost these bulletins within the post office and still had not found them as of the December publication date.

Feeling mixed emotions of outrage and sympathy, we are thankful that our troubles have not plunged to that discouraging low point; however, we certainly have problems with lost and undeliverable Quarterlies and feel you should be aware of these.

Your Quarterly, like most such publications, is sent by Fourth Class Mail, which is how printed matter is classified. Sending the Quarterly by First Class Mail would mean a very uncomfortable jump in your dues to cover the expense. But, indeed, being sent by Fourth Class Mail should not mean in any way that such mail should receive "fourth class treatment" in the bad sense of the expression.

None the less, out of each quarterly mailing some issues of the Quarterly simply vanish and are never heard of again. Lost in limbo. This is true of regular membership-subscription copies mailed by the printer (these have printed labels) and also of extra-copy orders filled by your editor. And these mailings are, by the way, from two different cities.

When a person/or institution fails to receive what he has paid for by order of subscription, he feels justifiably irritated or angered. This is an undeserved embarrassment to your magazine, your printer and to your Society, and continues to happen again and again. It is also a costly thing for your Society (you) to assume. For when we learn of a lost magazine we send a duplicate in its place or, if it is then out of print, a refund of payment. We also try to write a note or make a call of explanation and apology. Still, ill will can exist.

You may help ease the situation in three ways we can think of: first, please notify the editor immediately of your changes of address because Fourth Class Mail is not forwardable, and although return postage is guaranteed by the Quarterly, such undeliverable mail is sometimes not returned to us, but rather falls into the Lost in Limbo state; second, notify the editor as soon as possible of any Quarterly not received and we will try, try again to replace it; and third, hang in there, genealogists:

CLIPPINGS FROM THE OLD SCRAPBOOK
HOOK AND LADDER BALL, MCKINNEY, TEXAS, ABOUT --- (A News Clipping)

Certainly a more brilliant and enjoyable event could not have transpired anywhere than the Hook and Ladder Ball which took place last Friday night. Shain's Opera House has held larger crowds, perhaps, than that which gathered on this occasion, but at no time has there assembled within its spacious walls a company more dazzling in its beauty, its toilets and its gallantry, or more capable of reflecting greater credit upon its projectors and the social life of McKinney. The brightest proportion of pretty women of neighboring cities and towns were present, and their beautiful evening toilets were a fair realization of the artistic in dress. There were a great many pretty new faces among the figurants. They vied with and perhaps rivalled, our own beauty, of which we are so proud, and it was loveliness versus loveliness in the contest for supremacy. Gentleman, in the reflected beauty of their fair partners and arrayed in the traditional evening suit of the day, the richness and magnitude of the surroundings and the faces betraying their expression the determination and expectancy of having an evening of unalloyed pleasure, together with the never-ending, everchanging kaleidoscope of pretty forms, sparkling jewels and shining silks, combined to form a grand

WILLIAM AND SARAH WARD GAMBILL

Pioneers of Fannin Co., Texas

..... And His Parents,

JAMES GAMBILL AND ALICE MORGAN

of Robertson Co., Tennessee

by Gladys G. Gambill

William Gambill of Fannin County, Texas, is here designated II in order to differentiate him from his grandfather who died in Wilkes County, N. C., in 1779. He was the son of James and Alice Morgan Gambill of Robertson County, Tennessee. William was born in North Carolina in 1786 and died in Fannin County, Texas, between 1869 and 1891. The 1840 Census of Texas by Gifford White shows him with one poll and no land and also his son, William Jr., the same, both in Red River Co. The lands they occupied were later in Lamar County and finally Fannin. This census also shows a James Gambill and a Robert in Red River Co. and the history of Red River and Clarks-ville shows that James and Robert were there as early as 1834. Whether they related to William is not known.

By 1800 the family of James Gambill, William's father, was permanently settled in middle Tennessee, district 18, literally on the Kentucky-Tennessee line and adjacent to the modern towns Russellville and Springfield. During the War of 1812 William served as ensign in Capt. Richard Benson's militia infantry, Col. A. Cheat-ham's Regiment. The unit, according to a record at Washington, spent some time in 1814 at Fayetteville and marched home to Robertson or Robinson County.

Indexes to Robertson Co., Tenn., and Logan Co., Ky., show numerous acquisitions of land by William following his military service, and it is thought that he married between 1814 and 1817. In 1814 he bought from John Langham 75 acres lying in Logan Co., "beginning at James Gamble's corner" (Recorded Logan Co., 1-16-1815) The indenture specifies that Gambill was "of Robertson Co." He seems to have taken up residence in Logan Co. on the 200 acre grant received by his father in 1798 plus his own additions. In 1825 he bought a tract on Red River through John Stewart, atty. (Bk. N, p. 233, Robertson Co.) This courthouse also shows that he purchased, in 1828 75 acres from John Copeland (Bk. P, p. 138); in 1826, 13 acres from Jacob Fort (Bk. P, p. 31); in 1829, 13 acres from John Stewart (Bk. Q, p. 159). In Logan Co., Ky., we find that on 10-13-1827 James Gambill, "in consideration of the good will and affection" he bore "for a son, William Gambill", plus one dollar in hand deeded to William the Logan Co. 200 acre tract surveyed in 1798 (Bk. P, p. 115) The last record of William in this Kentucky-Tennessee area is his sale in 1836, with wife Sarah signing, of 347 acres along Red River to John Proctor (Logan Co., Ky. Bk, U, p. 67), a move that must have been preparatory to leaving Kentucky. By this time all his children except one had been born, in Kentucky.

Having been born in 1786, William was around 52 years of age when he came to Red River, Texas, in 1836-37. Because most frontiersmen were younger, legends arose as to his extreme age and still persist. His oldest son, also named William, was called Junior. Having been born in 1818 or 1819, William Jr. was able to take up land in his own name and did so. He became a physician and was referred to as Dr. Buck Gambill.

William Sr., father, was granted on 4-5-1841 Texas conditional certificate #4 for 640 acres in Lamar Co. The certificate, from the Lamar Co. board, was followed 8-4-1843 by unconditional one #20 for the same holding. (Texas General Land Office).

The youngest child of William and Sarah, Benjamin Franklin Gambill, was born in Lawrence Co., Mo., 7-27-1838, where the parents had stopped enroute west. The U.S. Census for 1820, Logan Co., Ky., shows William Gambill with 2 males and 2 females under 10 years, 2 females 10 to 16, and 1 female and 1 male 26 to 45, seeming to prove that he had six children. This same source for 1830 shows one male under 5, 1 female 5 to 16, 1 male and 2 females 10 to 15, 1 male 20 to 30, and one female 30 to 40. Comparison of these age brackets with the records in the 1850 Census in Fannin Co., Tex., reveals discrepancies and suggests the possible loss of some children and births of others. Too, census can be erroneous. The Fannin Co. census for 1850 follows:

Wm. Gamble	64 male	1,000 acres	b. N.C.
Sarah Gamble	56 female		b. S.C.
A. J. "	21 male		b. Ky.
E. "	24 female		b. "
A. "	20 female		" " "
Joseph "	20 male		" " "
Reason "	17 male		" " "
B.F. "	12 male		b. Mo.

Initials signify Andrew, Elizabeth, and Alice. William, Jr., Lucinda and Mary or Polly were no longer in the home, but instead find places in the census as heads of their own households. Alice and Joseph were twins. Whether the Dr. John C. Gambile (1837-1918) buried in Lamasco Cemetery, Fannin Co., relates is not known.

Because his descendants scattered and moved, we have little information concerning the family on their plantation near present-day Honey Grove. Visits to Jeremiah Ward's plantation, now known as Riverview, must have occurred. Military service for the Confederacy scattered the youths; William Jr. serving in the medical corps while Benjamin enlisted down in Collin County in the cavalry. Of historical interest is the family record in the U. S. Office of Indian Affairs at Muskogee, Oklahoma, filed on May 18, 1887, by A. J. Gambillas, a claim to Cherokee land, a claim which the government refused.

On 6-25-1868 at Bonham, Texas, William, the father, filed a report on community property, such as was required by law following the death of a spouse. "Your reporter," he says, "would state that in the year 1852 his wife, Sarah, died..." Consequently the death date of William is fixed as after 1868. (Fannin Co. Probate Dept., Box 8, #296) Then on 7-17-1891 C. C. Youkum swore he knew that William Gambill was dead and that he died in Fannin Co. (See A. J. Gambill vs. Dawes Commission, Indian Office, Muskogee, Oklahoma 1896-97) Thus the death date of William is placed between 1868 and 1891.

In the court record cited above A.J. listed the following children as alive in 1887:

Lucinda	m. M. L. Dalton 1840
William Jr.	m. (1) Cath. Bain (2) Susan Holmes
Mary or Polly	m. Dalton
Elizabeth	m. Lewis Yates 1851
Alice	m. Kennedy 1856
Andrew	m. Hulsey
Joseph	m. Amanda
Reason	m. _____
Benjamin F.	m. (1) Mary Louise Cooper (2) Amelia Cooper Smith

"All," the deposition says, "are sons and daughters of Sarah Ward and William Gambill."

It is thought that William and Sarah were buried in Vineyard Grove Cemetery, but no stone is there now. Catherine Bain Gambill, who died young, was buried in the Bain Cemetery in 1848. William Jr. and second wife, Susan Holmes of Indiana, lie in Oakwood at Bonham, where his dates are shown as 1818-1905. His brother, A.J., lies near with dates given 1829-1919. Courthouse records as well as tombstone inscriptions spell the name indiscriminately as Gamble or Gambill, although the will of William's grandfather at Wilkesboro, N.C., plainly reads the latter, as do the records of his great grandfather in Virginia in 1735.

EARLIER TRACES

A backward look reveals interesting problems concerning both Ward and Gambill lines in the first days of the American colonies. The 1790 census of Laurens Co., S. C., carries Ward, Banton, and McDole data highly suggestive that the family of Sarah Ward Gambill had been there. Also we find reasons for examining the records of Franklin Co., Va., where Benjamin Ward married Elizabeth Perdue, 9-15-1804, Mistic Perdue surety; whereas in Macon Co., Ill., 1-11-1814, Margaret, daughter of John Ward, Jr., married Joshua G. Purdue. (Over the Mountain Men by Worrell, p. 22 and Decatur, Ill., Abstracts of Circuit Court Records, Apr. 1836; Thomas Ward vs. Strickland shows Purden.) Also in Franklin Co., Va., the name Jesse Ward appears in marriage rolls of 1799. In addition, Ward names in N.C. suggest a migration of the line from Virginia to S.C. Again, in Hopkins Co., Tex., where James, brother of Sarah Gambill, settled early we find "Sulphur Springs", and in Virginia one John Ward had established an estate called "Sulphur Springs" before 1800. (Pittsylvania and Bedford County records) This same account (Va. Mag., v. 24, p. 180,) says he had a brother named Jeremiah who "moved to Texas", but we have not been able to connect this Jeremiah with Sarah Gambill's brother of the same name.

Gambill lineage is, we believe, proved back to Sept. 4, 1735, when Henry Gambill (variously called Gambrell and Gambill) of Hanover Co., Va., and his wife Mary or "Marie" Gambill purchased land from Thomas Carr. (Louisa Co., Va., deed bk. A.P.445). It is proven that Mary's maiden name was Davenport. Dates and locations suggest connection with Thomas Gambill of King William Co., Va., who sold to John Graves 5-24-1729. Meanwhile, across the river in Anne Arundel Co., Md., Gambrell records were being established. (Anne Arundel Gentry by Newman, Univ. Mich. Press) Reason Gambrell married Mary Gaither, 12-31-1777; the 1850 census of Fannin Co., Tex., shows that Sarah and William Gambill had a son Reason, age 17. Gambill or Gambrell entries in Maryland prior to the Revolutionary War suggest a connection with Gaither and Hammon families who fled to Md. in the middle of the 17th Century for religious freedom. One Thomas Gamble in the king's roll for 1704 is located where Gambill shows later. Having studied Gambill records in King Wm. Co., Va., and Anne Arundel, Md. one is surprised to find a John Gambill in Edgecomb Co., N.C., in 1744. (Abstracts of Edgecomb Precinct by Margaret Hoffman, Weldon, N.C. Nugent's Cavaliers and Pioneers says that John Gambill was a headright of John Seward at New Hemington, Isle of Wight, Virginia, in 1665.

GLADYS G. GAMBILL N.S.D.A.R. #515400 DENTON, TEXAS APR., 1972

SARAH WARD GAMBILL

Sarah Ward Gambill, wife of William II of Logan Co., Ky., and Fannin Co., Tex., was the daughter of John Ward who died in Logan Co. in 1811 and the mother of Benjamin F. Gambill, pioneer of Denton Co., Texas. She was born 1794, the family always insisting in South Carolina. The will of her father (Logan Co., liber A, p. 191) was proved in 1811, naming "daughter Sally" separately from other daughters still in the home with their mother and seeming to suggest that Sarah had already married.

Census records, however, of the birth dates of her children suggest otherwise. The wife of John Ward and mother of Sarah was Mary McDowell.

Mrs. Susie Phelps of Wallace, Nebraska, an immediate descendant and the compiler of a Ward history, says, "Sarah, fourth child of John and Mary Ward, was born in South Carolina in 1794 and married William Gambrel. John had married Mary McDowell in South Carolina. Later the couple moved to Tennessee near Nashville, where they resided a few years and then moved on to Logan Co., Ky. He died there in 1811. Little is known of their lives or occupations except that at one time they raised and trained race horses."

According to the will of John Ward, Sarah Ward Gambill had the following brothers and sisters: Jeremiah, John Jr., James, William, Thomas, and Lewis; also Peggy, Polly, Lucy and Nancy. Lewis Banton Ward, the youngest, was born 1-9-1809 and was ten years of age when the family left Kentucky.

Concerning John Ward, Mrs. Rebecca Bouldin, genealogical researcher at Russellville, Ky., says, "I am sure Book A, survey page 171, dated 1796, is the land John Ward made his entry on. Ward land adjoined that of the Hall and Logan families. Sinking Creek is a branch of Wolf Lick Creek. From survey dates he came to Logan County about 1790. He had to come, enter on his land, be approved, and then survey. It took from one to six years from the time of entering until survey date, depending on time of year and weather. Most of his land was on Red River, on the Tennessee-Kentucky line. He must have died on his farm, which was about six miles from modern Russellville. We have no death records for these early dates. I believe John Ward's wife was Mary McDowell as John McDowell was executor of his will. The McDowell's could have come from Richmond Co., N.C. The Ward land was near the Baptist Church at Poplar Springs and these people were no doubt of its congregation."

In southwest Logan County a near neighbor to John Ward was Michael Ward, who made his will May, 1814 (liber A, p. 348). He mentions wife, Mary, sons, James, Johnathan, Jesse, Philip; and daughters Jenny, Milly, Nancy, Patsy, and Fanny (?) Bagan. Witnesses "daughter Patsy", Robert Scott, and Jacob Rowland. What relationship existed between these two families is not known. The name Michael Ward appears in early Virginia as well as North Carolina, while a sworn affidavit in the U.S. Office of Indian Affairs (A. J. Gambill et als vs. Dawes Commission, 1887) avers that the father of John Ward of Logan County was named Jesse.

The account of Mrs. Phelps continues: "In 1819 Mary Ward and family moved to Illinois. Some of the children had married but accompanied their mother, leaving Kentucky in October and arriving in Fayette Co., Ill., Nov. 11, 1819. They located eleven miles from Vandalia and remained there until 1824, when they went to Macon Co. in the same state, settling on the south side of the Sangamon River at a place known as Ward Settlement".

Histories of the two families, Ward's and Gambill's, suggest that the marriage of William and Sarah took place in either Robertson Co., Tenn., or Logan Co., Ky., along the state line where Hall's, Morgan's and other families had been neighbors since the early 1790's. First Record of Sarah as wife of William Gambill is her signature on a deed at Logan County, 1-23-1837, (Bk. V, p. 67), in which the couple sells 347 acres on Red River to John Proctor for $2,429. The sale must have been preparatory to moving as their last child, Benjamin, was born 7-27-1838 in Lawrence County, Missouri, where the family seems to have stopped for a year with relatives while enroute west. On 6-25-1868, William filed at Bonham, Tex., an accounting of community property, in which he said that his wife Sarah had died in 1852 (probate #296-8). Date of her death is corroborated by the A.J. Gambill affidavit referred to above, in which he said as her son that she died in Fannin Co., Texas, in 1852.

JEREMIAH WARD

Jeremiah, brother of Sarah, has an extensive posterity. In her history of Fannin County, Mrs. Hodge says, "... the Jeremiah Ward family settled north of Windom in 1838." He carried a name on the records of colonial United States from Maine to Georgia. The Indian lawsuit referred to says his grandfather was named Jesse Ward who had a brother named Jeremiah. The vast number of men named Ward during his time makes identification of military records difficult. He probably served in the War of 1812. One John Ward was in Tennessee on the French Broad prior to 1790 on a grant from N.C. In Texas in 1850 the Ward's told the census taker that Jeremiah was born in Tennessee, but elsewhere S.C. is cited.

The Phelps family history says Jeremiah married Dolly Derrington in Logan Co., Ky. They went to Macon Co., Ill., then to Missouri, and on to Texas, where he died, -- so the record says. Census shows that Jeremiah's oldest son, Jesse, was born in Illinois in 1825 and married Sylvia Johnson. A daughter, Mary, born in 1823, married W. H. Allen in Texas, 1843. Census indicates that the mother of these two was Nancy P. Ward. The sequence of events suggests that if Jeremiah married Dolly in Kentucky, she must have died soon. Mary Ward left there in 1819 and Jeremiah accompanied her. The fact that his niece, Margaret Ward (b. 1814) married Joshua Purden provokes the thought that Nancy could have been a Purden. Meanwhile, the court records of Macon Co., Ill., show Jeremiah on the jury there in 1830, but never again mention him. He seems to have gone to Missouri around 1831 and remained there a year or so before coming to Texas in 1832, the date given by Mrs. Phelps. In addition to Mary and Jesse cited above, the census suggests that he was also the father of these children, all born in Texas. Louisa, Andy J., Ellen, Lucinda, Amanda, Joseph, John, and Sarah, birth dates between 1834 and 1850. On May 18, 1887, about A. J. Gambill swore (op.cit.) that the following persons alive claimed to be the children of Jeremiah Ward and his wife, Nancy P. -- Henriette Yates, Ellen Howell, Nancy Ward, "a blind girl", Amanda Jolly, William Ward, Elisha, James and John Ward. In both lists the number is eight. It is not known whether some had died after 1850 and others been born or whether the same persons are being counted in both lists. "All," says the Gambill deposition of 1887, "are the sons and daughters of Jeremiah Ward, deceased in Fannin County, Texas."

Jeremiah and Nancy Ward are buried in Ward Cemetery, eight miles northwest of Honey Grove. Correct date of his death is 1853, whereas Nancy died in 1896 according to undertaker's records.

Author Pat Clark in the book Clarksville and Old Red River County cites a Jourdan Ward as a first settler, with sons James and John. Whether any relationship existed between these early Ward's on the Red River and Jeremiah further west is unknown.

INDIAN CLAIM EPISODE

One hundred years after John Ward and wife Mary McDowell settled in Kentucky, a group of their descendants in Texas and Oklahoma filed a claim to Cherokee land in Oklahoma, based upon the possibility that Princess Nancy Ward of early Tennessee history could have been an ancestor. This full story is told in the lawsuit entitled A. J. Gambill vs. Dawes Commission, Cherokee Nation, U.S. Office of Indian Affairs, at either Muskogee or Washington, D.C. The oil lands at stake had excited the frontier; claims were made helter-skelter; the name Nancy Ward of the Cherokee was well known; and after a century of pioneering three generations had lost communication with Tennessee and Kentucky. The purpose was exploratory, just-to-see. The government, besieged by Ward claims, established a legal lineage for Princess Nancy, which in no way included any descendants of old John Ward of Logan Co., Ky. However, the sworn affidavits and voluminous family records filed by the Ward's and Gambill's of Fannin Co., Tex., contain information not found elsewhere. "John Ward, called Jack" is named the father of Jeremiah Ward and his sister, Sarah Gambill, and Mary McDowell, their mother. This Indian claim also says that the father of old John was named Jesse.

WARD'S IN ILLINOIS

Records show that a Lewis Ward accompanied George R. Clark to Illinois during the Revolutionary War, and the name Lewis is peculiar to and persistent with this line. In 1824 Mary Ward, widow, and a number of children settled on the south side of the Sangamon River in Macon County, Ill. Since the neighborhood was known as "Ward Settlement", one wonders what others of the same name might have been there. History of the Early Settlers of Sangamon, Ill. by J. C. Powel presents a John Ward born 6-19-1810, near Romney, Virginia, as being there early. His wife, Mary Shivers was born 1814 at Fredericktown, Md., and went to Virginia with her parents. These two were married near Romney in 1833 and went to Sangamon.

Concerning the brothers and sisters of Jeremiah Ward and his sister, Sarah Gambill of Fannin Co., Tex., some information comes from the Phelps notes. John Jr. born 1790 in S.C., married Jane Madol or McDowell. They reared a large family in Macon Co., Ill. and are buried in Walnut Grove Cemetery near Decatur. He died in 1831. Macon Co. Abstracts of Circuit Court Records, Bk. A, 1831-38, show a law suit entitled Thomas Ward vs. ___ Strickland, adm. est. John Ward (Jr.) deceased Strickland being guardian of Joseph, Lewis, Margaret, and several other "minor heirs" of John Ward.

James Ward, also a brother of Jeremiah and Sarah, married Elizabeth Freeman in Kentucky, went to Illinois, then to Missouri, thence to Hopkins County, Texas, where he died prior to 1887 and left the following children: James, John, Nancy Ferrill, Sally Weathers, Elizabeth Lee, Narcissa Martin, and Ira. (A. J. Gambill op. cit.)

Margaret Ward, likewise a sister of Jeremiah and Sarah of Texas, married Elisha Freeman in Kentucky. He died in 1858 and she in 1873. She was known as Peggy.

Polly or Mary Ward, another sister, married William Freeman and lived in Missouri.

Lucy Ward, born 1800, married Hiram Reeves.

William Ward, brother of Jeremiah, married (1) Elizabeth Wheeler, (2) Sarah Morris.

Thomas Ward married Elizabeth Wedicke.

Nancy married Lambert Beardin.

Lewis Banton Ward, born 1807, married (1) Elizabeth Walker (2) Matilda Jane Parker. He lived in Macon Co., Illinois, and appears in the early records there.

Thus we have, through the courtesy of Mrs. Phelps of Nebraska, at least a partial accounting of every child of John Ward mentioned in his Will, recorded in Logan Co., Ky., in 1811.

THE HISTORY OF FARMERSVILLE, COLLIN COUNTY, TEXAS

Compiled by Mrs. J. M. "Betty" Norman

For more than thirty years Mrs. Betty Norman taught school in Farmersville and the surrounding area. She felt a deep interest in local history and her enthusiasm for the subject was in turn felt by her students who, like others in the community, hold her memory in great esteem. Over the years she had her students collect information about early settlers and develop this into classwork themes.

Mrs. Norman kept the best of these in her notebook. Although she is now deceased, we, through the generosity of her husband, are able to print these for you to enjoy. We believe you will find things hitherto unrecorded. Our special thanks go to both Mr. and Mrs. Norman and to Mr. John McCraw who brought them to our attention.

1. "A Sketch of Farmersville's Early History" by Miss Hattie Neathery

The first settlement was made near Farmersville in 1849 by Moses Jones, Walter Yeary, John Haven and Hugh Gotcher. In 1852 Elisha Glass, Sr., Allen Daniels, R. E. Rike, Wilson Daniels, John Hendrix and Billy Kerby settled near the present site at a point about two and a half miles north of where Farmersville now stands was the center of trade, two or three stores and a saloon, known as "Sugar Hill", but owing to a tragedy the place was abandoned and the present site selected. The town was first called Whitefall. William Gotcher laid off the town in 1849, deeded the square from Washington St. to McKinney St., North Main to South Main - in consideration of profits arising from lots. Dr. Markham, who came from Kentucky in May, 1816, and was the first physician, bought three acres where the south side of the square is now located, for $1.50.00.

John Yeary was the first white child born in the town.

Perhaps no name is more closely identified with the town of Farmersville than that of Dr. A. H. Neathery, who came in June, 1856, from Paris, Texas. Dr. Neathery passed away on April 23, 1917, at the age of 83 years. He came to Farmersville at the age of twenty-three. He was one of the pioneer merchants of the town. Among the earliest settlers were John Hendrix, George W. Howard, Edward C. Box, Preacher Josephphand, Peter Day, Alfred Thompson, William Wisdom, David Wilcoxon, John D. Morrow, Alexander Keith Morrow, Harris Thomas and Joseph Stanford, Mack Henslee, Joseph Redwine, Lewis Sides, who wrote for the papers under the name of "Pewter Buttons", Charles and Greenberry Robinson, and Preacher W. A. Chapman, William C. (Wildcat) Robinson who was said to have helped blaze the road from Farmersville to McKinney and who was quite a politician. John P. Utt who was one of the first citizens and whose family have had quite a part in developing the resource of the community. R. E. Rike (Uncle Bob) as he was called, came from N. C. in 1850. He was host of one of the first hotels Farmersville boasted and hostelry still stands north of the Square on North Main St. W. P. Patton Honaker and his brother, Andrew Honaker, came from Sussell Co., Va. in 1856 to help build a new country. John Pendleton, who came from Scott Co., Va. in 1858, was one of our staunch early settlers. Mrs. Jake Bickley and her sons, Joseph and Patton, came from Scott Co., Va., in 1860. Other large families were: the Glasses, Ivie, Hicks, Harris, Harless, Lowell, Jacob, Moore, Fowler, Howell. Then later other families that have been closely identified with to town, Aston, Stinebough, Carver, Church, McBride, Allison, Prator, Keller, Knighton, Tatum, Hubbard, Battle, Woodard, Carpenter, Jackson, Thompson, Wylie, King, Stewart, Hartman, Letson, Davis, Smith, Menco, Moore, Dr. Bell, Holsombake.

The early merchants of the town were Messrs. Chisum, Kitchen, Houghton, Bain, Griffith, Neathery and Church. At that time there were no banks and money was secreted under pots in stores.

2. Some Written Notes of Miss Hattie Heathery

The first school in Farmersville was taught by preacher W. A. Edwards, Methodist minister -- He was assisted by his daughter, Miss Mamie Edwards, who married J. A. Skillern, the founder of Skillern's Drug Stores -- This school was held in White Hall, which stood where the parking lot is now located across from the Baptist Church.

In 1905 a fire destroyed almost the entire east side of the square.

Under administration of Leet Hendrix as Mayor, the lights down the center of the square were installed.

3. "Settling Old Farmersville" by W. S. Adair, great uncle of Mrs. J. McCraw and Walter Yeary, father of Horace Yeary, uncle of Mrs. Berry, uncle of Mrs. A. C. Corey, Mrs. Raymond Cornes

My father, Walter Yeary, native of Tennessee, served as a Captain in the U.S. Army and settled near the present site of Honey Grove in 1839. There were seven families in the party with which Walter Yeary came. The settlement which they established was one of those extreme outposts of civilization, which seemed to have such siren charms for the hardy pioneers, so said W. B. Yeary, 3113 Live Oak, Dallas.

One morning nine Indians caught my father at work with his hoe in the garden and cut him off from his cabin, but he turned his hoe into a weapon of war and put up such a bristling front that the Indians retired before him. All the time my grandmother was trying to slip his gun to him. In the fight, my grandparents were injured by arrows.

In 1845, father and my grandfather, Moses Jones, and some other members of the settlement moved to Collin County. Father set up as a merchant, his merchandise consisting mainly of powder, lead, sugar, coffee, and whiskey. Father hauled his goods from Jefferson. A Hoghead of sugar was brought several days before the rest of the store arrived. In the meantime, he had nothing but sugar to sell. From that circumstance the store took on the name of Sugar Hill. Sugar Hill continued as a trading point until the town of Farmersville, two and one-half miles away, was established some years later.

The settlements in North Texas were few and far between, and very little land was in cultivation, because there was no market for farm products, and it was so easy for the pioneer to make a living without much labor.

The country was open in every direction, and the traveler could for days and days make his way in a straight course toward any point of the compass without having to detour on account of fences.

My grandfather, Moses Jones, was a doctor and Baptist minister of the Sugar Hill settlement. I am sure he did not take any regular course in a medical college as a preparation for the practice of his profession. His guides were his natural sagacity and the book of old Dr. Gunn. This book, which I still have in my possession, describes the medicinal plants and herbs and tells how to use them. It lays out a map of the ordinary diseases and tells which of the medicines to give for each disease. Grandfather cultivated in his garden all the plants needed for his practice. He had to buy nothing but calomel and blue moss. Quinine had not as yet found its way out in the frontier. The death rate from natural causes was extremely low and Dr. Jones was known as a successful physician.

Preaching and practicing medicine did not afford sufficient scope for the prodigious energies of my grandfather, Moses Jones. He built, owned and operated the first grist mill in the community. It was a treadmill worked by oxen. It ground both corn and wheat, and grandfather took his pay in toll -- that is he reserved for himself a part of the grist brought to the mill. The mill separated the worked-up wheat into four grades... 1st and 2nd grade flour, shorts and bran. Customers took home with them flour of both grades and enough of the shorts to furnish the women material to make starch -- and left the bran as worthless material to dispose of at his own expense. The shorts left behind was more than enough to feed the sluggish steers used as power for the mill. The flour to meal he had taken as toll, he sold at the mill or sent it to Jefferson to be exchanged for sugar, coffee and whiskey.

I was eight years old when I pulled on my first pair of shoes. They were made by John Frank, farmer, hunter, saddle and shoemaker. He had no shoe-leather when he took my measure, so he used harness leather. I used strips of buckskin for shoe strings. My favorite sport as a boy was trapping quail and prairie chickens. When the snow was on the ground, I kept a piece of board heating before the fire to stand on while taking and birds from the trap and setting and rebaiting it for the next comers. Every night we children would grease our feet with mutton suet and bake them before the fire -- but in spite of these precautions, my feet would often crack open and bleed. We had a lot in which we penned the cows at night and the calves in daytime. It was my business to drive up the cows at night and the calves in the morning. The tall grass was so wet at times that I got wringing wet and chilled to the bone, but my lot was no harder than the other children of the community.

The first money I ever had I made in raising peanuts. Father got the seed from a neighbor who came from Georgia. The peanuts were sold in the store for three dollars. I decided to buy a trunk with my money -- so I gave it to my brother who was going to Jefferson. On the way, his wagon broke down and he had to use my three dollars to have it repaired, as he had no money of his own. People had no money in those days -- they did not need it. I never got my money back from my brother, and I don't know why but it was a good thing because I would have spent it foolishly. The first horse-wagon that rolled into the settlement was a sensation. The owner had brought a load of supplies all the way from Springfield, Missouri. The wagon was loudly painted all over the garlands of flowers. Father bought the wagon and harness. People came from far and near to marvel at the wonder.

We cut quite a swell when the family went to church in the new turn-out, when everybody else was walking, riding horseback or in ox wagons.

About 1870, father, while on a visit to New Orleans, came across a sewing machine, the first he had ever seen. He brought it home, and women all over the country quit their work to come look at it. The women brought their sewing and the machine was kept busy day and night, our house was the scene of a continuous sewing bee.

Howard Crawford was the first man to plant cotton in our section. He brought the seed with him when he moved from Alabama to Texas, as an experiment, and he planted nine acres in 1870. It turned out ten bales at a gin which John Haven made by overhauling an old tread grist mill, run by oxen.

He hauled the cotton to Jefferson. Crawford distributed the cotton seed among the neighbors and several of them tried cotton planting the next year with encouraging results. After that the cotton acreage was increased annually. In the early seventies cotton sold at an average of twenty cents, but it was not until 1880 that any considerable part of the land was put into cultivation. In 1880 B. R. and E. Haughton of Farmersville bought two hundred bales of cotton on account and hauled it to Terrell -- a distance of thirty-five miles. I drove one of the wagons. At that time there were only light houses on the road from Farmersville to Terrell. Wild cattle still roamed over the open country and a fierce bull who had set himself up as monarch of the plains, bellowed, pawed up the earth and departed the way with the forward wagon in our train.

The men got down and flayed him with their long ox whips and he retired in confusion.

Down to 1880 such a procedure as giving a mortgage on crops was unheard of. The first mortgage of the kind was signed by candle light in the back room of a store in Farmersville. As with disagreeable things, generally, it was considered appropriate to go through the formalities in the dark.

4: "Matteson - Carpenter Families: A Biography" by Carolyn Carpenter

David Matteson was born in 1715 and died in 1811, aged 96 years. His wife's maiden name was Cavel. They lived in Montville, Connecticut, but moved to Burlington, New York about 1800.

One of their sons, William Matteson, was born in 1760 and died in 1858, aged 98 years. He and three brothers served in the army of the Revolution. Two of his brothers were taken prisoners at the Battle of Long Island. They were placed on board a prison ship in New York Harbor where one of them was suffocated in a fire. The other one was vaccinated with Smallpox and sent out into the country. Another brother, David, served through the war and was present at the surrender of Cornwallis. After this he moved to Waterford, Pennsylvania.

William joined the army when about 16 from Connecticut. He served under LaFayette and Washington in New Jersey for six or eight months. When the war ended he went through Massachusetts into Vermont. He stopped at Bennington where he married Mehetable Mattheson, not a relative as known.

Mehetable's parents were Yercebbabel Matteson and Mehetable Dunnel. Her mother was part French and part Irish. All the Mattesons were English. Mehetable and William had a family of thirteen children -- eleven married and raised families. One was killed by lightning, and the other died of consumption.

One of their daughters, Mehetable married Isaac Carpenter. He served in the War of 1812, during which the lower part of his ear was shot off. He was also present at the burning of Buffalo.

Isaac and Mehetable had a son, Elijah Earl Carpenter. His wife's maiden name was Reese and they had one son. She died when the son was still young, and he remarried. He moved to Farmersville and opened a grocery store.

His son, Arthur Leroy Carpenter, was reared and went to school in Farmersville.

After attending Trinity College he bought his father's store. He operated this until his health began to fail. His wife, William Hinda Kimzey, was born and raised on a farm near Farmersville. Her grandfather was Polish Jew, who came to America stowed away in a barrel. Her parents were Josephine Crownrich and James Monroe Kimsey. She went to school in Farmersville and raised her family there. She had three boys and one girl.

Clifford Carpenter, my father, was born and raised in Farmersville. He graduated from the high school the Valedictorian of his class. After this he attended Southern Methodist University for years. He finished his college work and graduated from the University of Texas. His wife, Merble Sedell Parr, was born in Odem, Texas. Her grandfathers were Jefferson Davis Blacklock and James Whitmore Parr. Her parents were Effie Agnes Blacklock and N. G. Parr. Since her father was a railroad agent, she lived in many towns. Finally they moved to Raymondville where their three daughters and two sons graduated from high school. Mother went to Mary Hardin Baylor for one term and then went to business college.

They have three children. I have two sisters, Cindy, who is three, and Susan, who is ten.

I was born at the City-County Hospital on March 21, 1940. We moved into our house on McKinney Street soon after I was born. We moved from there to Dallas several times. When I was six years old we moved back for good and have been here ever since. That same year I started to school. Miss Natalie Terry was my first grade teacher. I really enjoyed learning to read and write. I was also taking dancing lessons. This was lots of fun. We had a recital about once a year.

When I was eight, I began taking music (piano) lessons. These have meant a lot to me. Entering high school was very important to me. I had been excited about it all the year before.

I joined the First Baptist Church in 1949. I have been active in church affairs ever since then.

I intend to finish high school here and attend College. My plans are to go to Baylor University.

INCIDENTS OF THE BATTLE OF OAK HILL

As Told By Col. E. Greer,
Commanding The Texas Mounted Regiment With Ben McCulloch

(Copied from an old news clipping in the Eliza V. Graves Scrapbook)

"Col. E. Greer, commanding the Texas Mounted Regiment with Ben McCulloch, writes a long and very interesting letter to the Marshall Republican, concerning the Battle of Oak Hill. We regret that we have not space for the whole letter; however, the following incidents related by him are too good to be crowded out:

During the day, one of my men, Mr. Sloan, was shot through the back with a large Minie ball. When carried from the field to the hospital he exclaimed, "This is too bad! A South Carolinian by birth; a Texas Ranger, and shot in the back!"

Another who was breathing his last on the bloody field, hearing the victorious shout of our men, asked, "What is that?" He was told. Then he said -- "I die contented."

Many, many a brave soul passed from earth to eternity on that memorable day. The battle raged hottest around the house of an old gentleman named Sharp, near the center of the battlefield. After the roar of the cannon and the rattle of small arms had ceased for a short time, an old lady came out of the house, with a bundle of clothes on her arm, passing over and around the debris that lay in the yard, and near the fence, to hang out the clothes. Placing her spectacles high up on her nose, her right arm at kimbo, she exclaimed in a singular and doleful tone, "Well, these folks have kicked up a monstrous fuss here today."

Just before the battle began, a brave old Captain -- not much of the 'a la militaire' about him -- ordered his men to "Git into line." About that time Lyon and Siegel opened their batteries upon us, letting loose grape, canister and shell in perfect sluice: "Dare," says the redoubtable old Captain, "hear that - that's the war you've been hearin' of so much; them big guns is the cannon. Fall into line! What are you huddling up there for? Some of you will git hurt, directly."

One of my gallant Captains, in the midst of the battle, was delivering a short speech to the company, winding up with a reprimand to his men for dodging the grape and canister sent occasionally down the lines from the enemy. About that time, a huge bomb came cleaving the air close to his head; he bowed gracefully and exclaimed, "Except the big ones, by ----!"

THE BRINLEE AND McKINNEY FAMILIES - From Tennessee and Kentucky to Texas

From the Notes of Bessie Brinlee Sims Sheppard
Route 1, Box A-11, Chico, Texas 76030

The Brinlee's and McKinney's came from Tennessee and Kentucky as early settlers in Collin County, Texas. Hiram Brinlee, born 1807 in Tennessee, married Elizabeth (Betsy) Ann McKinney, born 1813, in Kentucky. They were my great-grandparents. Their daughter Margaret was my grandmother. I am compiling data on these families and invite correspondence from any descendant. It is so difficult to get in touch with family members - especially since I am not acquainted with them and hardly know how to find anyone kin, allied or interested. Nevertheless, I have made fair progress and will be happy to exchange information.

Brinlee, Hiram, b. 1807, Tenn., married
McKinney, Elizabeth (Betsy) Ann, b. 1813, Ky.

Children:

Brinlee, Richard (Dick) M., b. 1836, m. Sarah Ellen Pettit
" , Margaret Leek, b. 1834, m. Robert Brown Sims
" , George Robert (Bob), b. 1838, m. Molinda J. Horton
" , Sarah E. (Betts), b. 1840, m. Wm. J. Anderson
" , Hiram (Dink) Carroll, b. 1842, Texas, m. Dicie Carolina Boone
" , David (Dave) Francis, b. 1844, m. Sarah Ann Hendricks
" , William H., b. 1850, m. Lyddia Price

(Editor's Note: We hope in the future to be able to share with readers the results of Miss Sheppard's work. And we call your attention to the following article, The Brinlee Cemetery, which she has submitted.

IX. Brinlee Cemetery, Valdasta, Collin County, Texas

Compiled October 10, 1972, by Bessie Sims Sheppard and Oleta Sims Carver

Brinlee Cemetery is located about nine miles northeast of McKinney, Collin Co., Texas, on the original Hiram Brinlee Survey, Old Abstract 26, Certificate 56, Abstract 30, C. O., December 1, 1849, 9,158,870 Sq. Varas. Land Patent 45.

Hiram Brinlee set aside the land for a burying ground, with a section set aside for the slaves. The setting is in a lovely area dotted with evergreen trees, cedars and oaks, with wild persimmon trees and others. Hiram and members of his family are interred in the northwest section of the cemetery. All graves with tombstones and inscriptions are listed. Some graves exist which are not marked.

Hiram Brinlee, born Dec. 25, 1803, died July 28, 1885. "Gone but not Forgotten"

R. B. Sims, born Nov. 18, 1825, died July 5, 1889. (son in law of Hiram Brinlee)

(Nearby R. B. Sims' grave is an unmarked baby grave, presumably his first born baby Houston Sims, born Feb. 25, 1858, died between 2 and 3 o'clock Oct. 7, 1859, age one year, 7 months and 12 days.

(Unmarked grave of the son of Hiram Brinlee, Hiram Carroll (Dink) Brinlee, born 1844, died, January 20, 1920.

(Unmarked grave of the son of Hiram Brinlee, David (Dave) Francis Brinlee, born June 19, 1846, died April 25, 1893, age 47 years killed while riding a horse that ran into a tree.)

(Unmarked grave of daughter of David Francis and Sarah Ann Hendricks Brinlee, Nancy E. Brinlee, born May 15, 1873, died Dec. 4, 1875.)

Charles D. Brinlee, born Dec. 2, 1881, died Jan. 30, 1882 (son of David and Sarah Ann Brinlee) "Sleep on sweet Babe, and take Thy rest, God called Thee Home, He thought it best."

William Washington Brinlee, born Nov. 1, 1869, died March 12, 1888, age 19 yrs. "Meet me In Heaven." (... killed accidentally by his gun which he had taken down from the door to frighten the blue jays and other birds away that were squawking and fighting outside the doorway.)

James W. Swafford, son of E. M. & M. J. Swafford, born April 5, 1886, died April 5, 1886. "Budded on Earth to bloom in Heaven."

picture of festivity worthy the touch of Munkacsy's brush to picture and the pen of Byron to describe.

At 9:30 o'clock music rose with its voluptuous swell...The music, furnished by Prof. Baker's orchestra, could not have been better ... All went merry as a marriage bell and dancing was kept up in a continuous round of enjoyment until about 1:30 a.m. when "Home Sweet Home" brought to a close one of the most pleasant entertainments that has taken place in McKinney.

The following couples were present: W. P. Suttle and Miss Tillie Daniels of Missouri, Zack Shirley and Miss Penny Yates of Virginia, Glen Stiff and Miss Jacqueline Levy of New Orleans, Robert Parker and Miss Ada Donoho of Bonham, M. Semi-Weekly Farm News, Jan. 26, 1909

My Father and Mother came to Texas and landed at Nocogdoches County in 1857. They stayed there two years then moved to young county. On the way they camped one night in Lavern's Valley. The civilized Indians were stationed there and they had two wild Comanches as prisoners. The Indian "Tonkaways" as they were called, danced all night around the prisoners, and next morning they shot them with arrows, the Indian men taking the first shot, the squaws the next and the children last. Father went on to Old Belknap to live; they stayed there for a while, and then moved across the Brazos River to farm. The Indians ran him back to the fort and the soldiers were called away from the fort so people went without protection. Several raids were made on the white people and at one time they stole Ed Cornet's wife when he was away from home. They got so bad Father moved to Wise County and didn't better it any. For they made several raids in Wise County, killing several persons and stealing horses.

Father enlisted in the war in 1861, in Capt. Arp's Company, Twenty-third Texas Cavalry, with a lot of others from Wise County. Mother had a hard time while father was gone. The two oldest boys had to be on the scout so much she didn't have much help at home, and when father came home at the close of the war his health was wrecked. He took consumption and died on Old Deep Creek in Wise County in 1876. I am the youngest of James Broadstreet's family, and I am 42 years old...R. H. Broadstreet, Poolville;Tx

THINKING OF PUBLISHING?

Many books can be mimeographed, as this Quarterly is. This is the least expensive way to publish.

B & W Printers have printed the Local History and Genealogical Society Quarterly for many years. We are interested in genealogy and know the care necessary in printing a genealogical book. We will work closely with you to have your book exactly as you want it. We can make excellent reproductions of your pictures.

Call Mrs. Fultz, 941-5553, to discuss your needs. Let her tell you about our new Quick Copying Service.
