OUR CREED: "A people which takes no pride in the noble achievements of remote ancestors will never achieve anything worthy to be remembered with pride by remote descendants." - LORD Macaulay,

FIRST PROJECT STARTED

The Committee on Special Projects of the Dallas Local History and Genealogy Society has announced that its first project will be the compilation of a bibliography of all Library dealing with genealogical material.

The project in Dallas is patterned from the St. Louis, Mo., project which published which is in the Dallas Library, and which has been termed a most valuable help in simplifying research by historians and genealogists in the St. Louis Library.

The work in the Dallas Library was started a few days ago and at the present time work has been completed on North Carolina, Illinois, and the French Hugue-

The appointment of the entire committee has not been completed. The committee is anxious to have volunteers from the membership of the society to give their services in compiling this bibliography. The commit-

Volunteers should call Mrs. James P. Owen, chairman, at EM-5259 or FO-8-8966. Three or four hours a week given by several workers would be greatly appreciated.

It is the desire of the committee to finish the inventory of material in the Dallas Library as soon as possible in order that the bibliography, which will be published in book form similar to the one of the St. Louis Library, can be made available to all members of the society and to any others interested in genealogical research.

TEXAS HERITAGE

The Texas Historical Foundation, with George W. Hill as executive director, was chartered early last year. The establishment of the Foundation has been called "one of the most significant recent events in the preservation movement in this country.

This new group, set up with the advice and encouragement of the National Trust for Historic Preservation, is designed as a co-ordinating agency within the State, much as the Trust itself is intended to serve the whole country. In the planning stage, the duties of the Texas Foundation were intended to be:

1. Designation and preservation of historic houses, sites and landmarks.

2. Preservation of important papers, documents and relics that record Texas life. a 3. Publication and distribution of materials concerning Texas life and history. 4. School utilization of historical resources and participation of school children in reliving the days of Texas pioneers. 5. Publicizing the significance of historical parks.

6. Use of the Foundation by organiza-6. Use of the Foundation of the conas a clearing house for information concerning Texas life. 7. Use of the facilities and leadership of the Foundation in the development of historical resources in every locality of Texas.

To begin to carry out the work of the Soundation a number of sub-committees have been appointed. Among the members are leading citizens studying museums, houses, sites, landmarks, arts and crafts (including plans for an Index of Early Texas Arts and Crafts), finances and programs.

Among other provisions, the charter of the Foundation states that "the corporation is not organized for propaganda purposes and will not attempt to influence legislation or participate in political activities

HISTORY OF THE DALLAS LOCAL HISTORY AND GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY

Mrs. Lillian Schwertz

As stated in its Charter, The Dallas Local History and Genealogical Society was organized in 1955 for the educational purpose of creating, fostering and maintaining interest among citizens of Dallas County in the Genealogy and Local History section of the Dallas Public Library: collecting and preserving information relating to early pioneers and history of our state and nation and to exchange ideas and collaborate in devising efficient methods for genealogical and historical research.

John Plath Green. Dallas attorney, was elected as the Society's first President with the following Board members: Charles L. Syron, Jane Alvis, Anna Walker, Charles L. Noland. Gladys Birt, Hazel Peterson, Margaret S. Carruth and Willie Carlisle.

Mr. Green served as President until 1961 when he was succeeded by Carr P. Collins. Jr. After serving one term Mr. Collins was succeeded in 1962 by Tom Walker.

The dynamic leadership and interest of these three Presidents contributed much to the growth of the Society. Credit. too, must be given to the untiring effort and work of the various Board members and officers of the Society as well as to the membership at large. Attendance at the monthly luncheon or evening meetings has proven the membership interest,

Through the untiring efforts of the Society membership. many documents, records, books and microfilm records have been donated or purchased through the Margaret B. Pratt fund and placed in the Genealogy and Local History section of the Dallas

Public Library.

The Society has co-sponsored with the Junior League of Dallas. a course for High School students interested in genealogy. Members of the Society give of their time and talent to this worthwhile project.

THE BULLETIN, the official publication of the Society, under the capable editorship of John Thornton and his staff. has been a great contribution to genealogists throughout the country. At the present time the Bulletin is sent to practically every large library in the United States.

The annual Genealogical Workshop conducted by the Society each Spring at the Downtown Public Library, has done much to stimulate and educate the public on the importance of preserving family, county, state and national records. Nationally known speakers have highlighted the Workshops.

The sharing of experiences and personal records: the sociableness and the friendliness of the members: the dedicated efforts of the membership in fulfilling the purposes of the Society have been the contributing forces in making the Dallas Local History and Genealogical Society a worthwhile organization. Note: (1)

This history of the Society was written by Mrs. Lillian Schwertz in June 1963 and appears in the SPECIAL INFORMATION ISSUE FOR THE MEMBERS. DOUBLE ISSUE. MARCH & JUNE. 1963. from which it was extracted. At that time Mrs. Schwertz was serving as a Director, and Mrs. Harry Joseph Morris was serving as Vice President of Publication and was Editor of the DOUBLE ISSUE, MARCH & JUNE, 1963, Volume IX, March, 1963, Number One & Volume IX, June, 1963, Number Two.
Note: (2)

All those mentioned on the preceding pages beginning with Mr. John Plath Green, First President; Mrs. Margaret Barret Pratt, former Head of the Texas History and Genealogy Department of the Dallas Public Library; Miss Vernon A. Laughter; Mrs. Lillian Schwertz, and in Volume 1, February 21, 1955, Number 1 of The Bulletin, which has been reproduced in this SPECIAL TWENTIETH ANNIVERSARY ISSUE OF THE QUARTERIX, VOLUME XX, DECEMBER, 1974, NUMBER POUR are Charter Members, although many of them are now deceased. It is to all of them, and to all the Fast Presidents that have come after them that we pay tribute and express our appreciation for their dedicated efforts which have made our Local History And Genealogical Society possible.

ORAL HISTORY RESEARCH PROJECT By

Mrs. Lola E. Lindsey, Chairman

Oral History is a recently developed technique of collecting information on contemporary and recent events by interviewing knowledgeable people, recording the data on tape, and making the information available for the use of qualified researchers and writers of the future.

According to Dr. Ronald E. Marcello, Director of the North Texas State University Oral History Program at Denton, Texas, "Oral History is tape recording reminiscences of someone who has been an eyewithess or participated in an event. It is not a monolog but a question and answer process. Taping a speech is not oral history but can be used as an appendix. Oral History is to gather raw research material to be used in the future, whereas, a journalist interview is for immediate use, i. e. to-morrow's newspaper or TV program. Written documents are the primary sources and oral history is a supplement to fill in the gass."

The primary purpose of the Local History and Genealogy Society project is to preserve the memoirs of the children and grandchildren and other relatives of the ploneer families of Dallas County who helped to establish the cultural, social and realigious background to the Dallas County of today. A secondary purpose of this project will be to aid future researchers in obtaining first hand knowledge of the origin of Dallas County from the "ploneer family" point of view. Topics of interest to be included in the collection will be cultural, political, economic, educational, and religious as well as historical and genealogical.

The collection will be recorded and transcribed by members of the Local History and Genealogy Society. Copies of the transcribed tapes will be provided to the memorist, with the original being filed in a special collection in the Genealogical Department of the Dallas Public Library.

Society members and others who are interested in this project may suggest persons to be interviewed to the Project Chairman. Any member who desires to assist in the development of this collection is invited to call Mrs. Lola Lindsey at 214-285-5049. The Society will provide the tape recorders, cassette tapes and the overall general plan for conducting the interviews.

GENEALOGISTS -- TEXAS NEEDS YOU!

Contributed By Mary Barnett Curtis (Mrs. Buford C. Curtis),

Professional Genealogist
Editor, "STIRPSS", Texas State Genealogical Society Journal Bibliographier, "MAGAZINE OF BIBLIOGRAPHIES", and Genealogy Publishing Consultant, Editor

The American Revolution Bicentennial Commission of Texas has stated that "Texas historical ties with the American Revolution are indirect". Meaning that since Texas was not one of the original thirteen colonies it probably can't contribute much in original sources to the all-out effort to relist the individuals and events of the American Revolution in relation to Texas today.

The American Revolution Bicentennial Commission of Texas is unable to complete their veterans project and their files have been turned over to The University of Texas, Institute of Texan Gultures at San Antonio, San Antonio, Texas, They are currently preparing an exhibit to celebrate the Bicentennial of the United States, A part of this exhibit will be devoted to those veterans of the Revolution who later settled in Texas, Unfortunately, much of the data furnished the Bicentennial Commission of Texas has been lost or misplaced and they are requesting anyone who has any material on these American Revolutionary veterans to contact Mr. W. Phil Hewitt at the above address.

Anyone who has any memorabilia commected with any of these veterans is asked to loan them to the Institute for this display. The items will be insured by the lender for the value he sets on it. They would like to borrow such items for the period of July 1975 through 1976. These exhibits will be locked in locked display cases with security people to protect them. If you have anything of this nature, please contact the Institute before December 31, 1974.

We, as genealogists, have been asked to help in this project by working to uncover the veterans of the American Revolution, their families and relatives, who settled in Texas, It is hard to understand that an area like Texas did not attract more than the 36 known veterans who had served as soldiers in the American Revolution and settled before Texas became a state.

Americans began immigrating into the area in some number as early as 1815, especially along the Red and Sabine Rivas which were the natural boundaries between Texas and the territories of the United States.

An example of these early Texas settlers is David Strickland who settled in the area north of Texarkana and who was there as early as 1824 and probably had come originally in 1821. He was from Connecticut and had gone to Ste. Genevieve County, Missouri where he engaged in the iron mining business with Moses Austin in a mine called "Mine A Breton."

When this venture met with financial disaster, David Strickland removed to Wayne County, Missouri where he applied for a pension on 26 July 1819, for his service in the American Revolution. He continued to receive his pension through the fourth of March 1820, when he moved out of Missouri and the pension seems to have stopped. On the eighth of April, 1823 he appeared in court at Miller County (old), Arkansas and in this redin to the states that he owes Moses Austin $300.00. This may indicate that he had contracted to be one of Austin's settlers. However, he apparently was living in Texas on Pecan Bayou, in the Red River County area. His sons Amos, David, James and Samuel remained in Miller County, Arkansas probably to establish a legal residence to receive David's pension as no pensioners were paid who resided outside the continental limits of the United States or its territories.

From the records in Texas it appears that David Strickland died ca. 1824/25, At this same time the sons of David Strickland removed from Arkansas to Texas to join their mother and also take up land of their own. According to the May 30, 1826 issue of the Arkansas Gazette--Amos, David, James and Samuel Strickland were listed as being delinquent in their taxes for 1825, they having removed from the county.

The application of a widow led to the idenity of Benjamin Hardin as a Revolutionary Soldier who came to Texas and died in Polk County, Texas on November 25, 1845. According to this pension record he married the widow, Martha Barnett, December 10, 1802 in Knox County, Tennessee. The marriage had been performed by Joseph Hardin, J. P., and that after their marriage they lived in Warren, Roane and Wayne Counties, Tennessee, the last of which her husband helped organize and of which he was the first sheriff. Benjamin Hardin also served in the Tennessee State Legislature before coming to Texas prior to 1839, the year his Republic of Texas headright was dated.

If this kind of proof can be turned up on two American Revolutionary soldiers who came to Texas and died here (one of the Bicentennial list, and one a new discovery) why not join together to prove them and this can be one of our contributions as genealogists to the Bicentennial for Texas. To insure that the genealogists receive recognition for the two above specific instances, please clear all your information through your local Genealogical Society and send a copy of your findings to Mary Barnett Curtis, Editor, STIRPES, Texas State Genealogical Society Quarterly, 3812 Lafayette, Fort Worth, Texas, 76107. If you would be willing to go out on interviews, or to do research in your own area please send her your name, address and telephone number. Those sending in material or assisting on the research will be kept abreast of all names being submitted for verification, Interviewers or researchers will be contacted by Mr. Hewitt as needed.

SUGGESTIONS FOR INDENTIFYING REVOLUTIONARY SOLDIERS IN TEXAS

- List all tombstone records of men born 1765 and prior, who are buried in Texas. (Search all published cemetery records and check on all small private cemeteries in your immediate vicinity.)
- Check the local "mug" books (biographical write-ups on local residents.), and list any families whose tradition state they had ancestors who served in the American Revolution. See if you can locate any descendants and verify.
- 3. Check local newspaper files for mention of any Revolutionary soldier or son or grandson who lived in your area.

4. Check Circuit Court records for period between 18 March 1818 and 1850's, for applications for American Revolutionary pension records. There will probably not be any prior to Texas becoming a state, but they might identify a person testifying in a court as having been a Revolutionary soldier.

5. If you do research in adjoining counties or parishes in Arkansas and Louisiana be sure to check the Circuit Court Records. As the pensioners couldn't receive payment in Texas until after it became a state, they would try to establish their legal residence in the nearest territory of the U.S..

nearest their homes in Texas.

6. Check widow applications made after the death of their husbands to see if they may mention the husband having ever resided within the borders of Texas. The widows may have made applications from a state other than Texas that they removed to after the death of their husbands.

7. List all males in Marion Day Mullin's First Census Of Texas old enough to have served in the American Revolution.

8. Check lists of colonists before 1836.

 Check rosters of Masons and patriotic organizations for mention of Revolutionary Service.

10. Check pension applications of men who applied for pensions from Arkansss or Louisiana...we need a list.

11. Locate and identify Federal Banks so that possible records may be located for the record of payment to these veterans, Try to identify other agents-Judge of Court, etc.--who handled these payments if there were no banks in the immediate area. Especially those located in Arkanssa and Louisiana, We might be able to find the private papers of some of these officials.

12.Check your local D.A.R. Chapters to see if they have any names suggested by their members in past years, but which todate have not been proven.

13.Check records for any of the "Five Civilized Tribes" especially the Cherokee who took up residence or land in Texas. Some of these served as guides during the war.

Request: If anyone has any other suggestions for locating and identifying these Revolutionary War Veterans, please send them in to Mrs. Curtis, at the address given above, to be included in this outline, Thank you.

QUERY

Mr. John M. Whitcomb, 18 Brattle Street, Cambridge, Massachusetts, 02138, would appreciate information on a former World War II army friend who was listed in the 1947-48 Dallas city Directory as: CHARLES W. HOBSON, II, (wife Julia), Apartment 15, 4247 Maple Avenue, Dallas, Texas. There were no subsequent listings. The Dallas Public Library checked later Directories. Ferhaps some neighbors, or local organizations, or former Apartment managers might remember them and might recall the location of removal of the Hobsons. He was well informed on medical and scientific subjects, and may have gone into such fields. The University of Texas did not find him listed as a graduate.

LISBON REUNION By Mrs. John W. Anthony

The Lisbon Cemetery Association recently sponsored an old fashioned reunion for descendants of pioneer families who settled at Lisbon.

Bright sunbonnets, and long, colorful dresses accented the crowd of more than 100 people who gathered at the Lisbon Cemetery on Sunday, September 29th, Tents and chairs were set up on the grounds, and refreshments were served. Name tags were a big help in identifying former classmates, friends, or neighbors not seen in many years.

Mr. Joe Durham, a youthful 93, won the prize for the oldest person present, and Mrs. Ella Worley, a charmer of 90 years, took the second prize, Mrs. James M. Weesner (nee Mary Louise Britt). who came all the way from California, won the prize for the greatest distance traveled to the reunion.

Special guests were Mr. P. G. Wilson of Lancaster, Texas, and Mr. J. B. Britt, Sr., who lives on Sixth Street in Oak Cliff. Mr. Wilson and Mr. Britt were mayors of Lisbon when it was an incorporated town during the period 1921-1929.

Lisbon was situated on Lancaster Road halfway between Dallas and Lancaster, Texas. Three Sloan brothers, James, Samuel, and Robert, secured large tracts of land in the area after they arrived in the 1840's from Arkansas. The log house that Samuel Sloan built for his family in 1846 is still standing on Ledbetter Drive. After the Civil War, Lisbon received an influx of people migrating from the devasted southern states, and became a thriving rural community. In the early 1870's the town acquired a post office, erected a school-church building, and established a cemetery. The tenor of this early farming community remained very much the same until around 1913, when real estate developers moved into the area, and created various suburban "additions." In 1929, Lisbon was annexed to Dallas, but it was not until about 1955 that Lisbon began to feel the effects of urbanization, and many of the original families moved to other parts of the county.

Today, the Lisbon Cemetery is one of the few remaining landmarks of this historical town. The Lisbon Cemetery Association is dedicated to preserving the cemetery as a memorial to the town of Lisbon, and the people who once lived there. There are over 500 graves in the cemetery and a complete list of tombstone inscriptions has been made. However, there are about 100 persons buried there for whom the Cemetery Association has not been able to establish a family contact. These names are listed below, and anyone with knowledge of these families may contact Mrs. John W. Anthony, 1622 Nolte Drive, Dallas, Texas, 75208. (946-3633.) Bay, Theodocia Dolen, Mary L. THE SMITH COUSINS REUNION By Mr. and Mrs. Stephen J. Smith

Stephen James Smith, son of Thomas E. and Eliza Starbuck Smith, and Elizabeth Roberts, Daughter of Aaron and Matilda Farquhar Roberts, were married in 1873 and raised their three sons, Aaron Thomas, Wilford B. and Lindley M. Smith, near Chesterhill, Ohio. These three sons had a total of 18 children and 41 grandchildren. Every two years these cousins gather for a reunion at Malcolm L. Smith's home in Washington, D.G. The next reunion is planned for David L. Smith's home near Jaddo, Michigan. Philip S. Smith, Laughlintown, Pennsylvania, is President, and Dorothy Schofield, Chesterhill, Ohio, is Secretary of the family reunion group. Mrs. Schofield has minutes of the reunion dating back to its origin over twenty years ago.

PEERLESS CEMETERY HOPKINS COUNTY, TEXAS As Compiled By

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Ewing and Miss Virginia M. Vaden The Peerless Cemetery is located at Peerless, Texas in Hopkins County, about 12 miles northwest of Sulphur Springs.

My great grandparents Eli and Sallie Crisp Lindley with their family settled in the area in 1042 when Texas was a Republic. The first community there was known as Hilldale. Later the name was changed to Fairyland when a post office was established in 1890. In 1891 the name was changed to Peerless.

I do not know when the first person was buried there, but the headstone with earliest date of death is that of Della Campbell, who died June 28, 1852.

Memorial Day at the Peerless Cemetery is held each year on July 4th. The cemetery is well kept and is still in use. I estimate that more than one-half of the graves are without headstones.

The listing of the headstones at the Peerless Cemetery was done by my wife Catherine and me with Miss Virginia Vaden of Dallas on May 18, 1973.

TOWARD A CLEARER UNDERSTANDING OF ARMS Contributed by Dr. David P. Johnson, President The American College of Heraldry

For many Americans, the concept of heraldry and the bearing and display of personal arms evokes images of great lords and ladies, medieval pagentry and government by monarchy. Indeed, these elements formed a portion of the early history of heraldry. The medieval images are many fancifully and largely invested with a dream-like quality. It is not, therefore, surprising that these reflections seem somewhat foreign to our experience and irrevalent to our current needs and priorities.

For other Americans, the bearing of heraldic arms has connotations of snobbery and decadence. Unfortunately, it is true that some have yielded to their own vanity and have already abused the ancient and cultural form in just those ways. It is not in the least surprising that men and women of genuine quality and refinement would avoid any association with fads and movements tainted with appeals to these base motives.

Americans have been actively led still further into a state of confusion regarding recognized heraldic regulations by the absurd mailorder sale of armorial bearings to anyone and everyone who by chance share the name of a legitimate grantee.

Coats of arms, in America and abroad, are granted to an individual and thereafter may be inherited and borne by certain descendants of the original grantee. In this sense, they represent the arms of two families. Each individual who proposes to bear the arms is obligated to firmly establish that he is indeed a descendant of the original grantee and is, thereby a member of that specific family and eligible to bear the arms.

The mere fact that two individuals share the same surname in no way indicates that they have ever shared a mutual ancestor. The notion that "all we Kilpatricks are descendants of The Original Kilpatrick" is a common misconception based entirely in a lack of understanding regarding the origins of surnames. Therefore, the sale of a legitimate armiger's coat of arms to anyone else, even others sharing the same surname, is illegitimate since the purchaser has no recognized claim to arms.

While such mailorder sales are not presently illegal in this country, the sales are certainly unworthy and demeaning since they blatantly violate the exclusive armorial rights of the original grantee as well as the rights of his descendants who have inherited the arms. It is our belief that a large majority of Americans who purchase and bear these bogus and spurious "Family Coats of Arms" do so simply because they do not understand the recognized regulations of legitimate heraldry. To proudly display a painting of another man's personal coat of arms as one's own would contain the same irrationality as proudly displaying as one's own a photograph or painting of another man's personal automobile. As Americans begin to understand these differences, a great many bogus "Family Coats of Arms" will quickly and quietly disappear from the walls of homes across this nation.

The misunderstanding and abuses of heraldry which have been mentioned here in no way detract from the desirability and usefulness of legitimately granted personal arms in this country. The American College of Heraldry instead actively promotes the bearing of personal arms. Fellows of The College have a profound respect for the ancient armorial traditions and customs and are firmly persuaded that there exists a real and meaningful place for personal armory in this present day and age.

The armorial bearings granted by The College to its members provide a symbol of unity, respect, affection, cooperation and continuity within each family unit. The arms also serve as a focus for promotion of time honored and culturally proven ideals such as honor, justice, charity, industry, leadership and service.

For Fellows of The College, the bearing of personal arms does not then represent decadence, but rather a continuous challenge for active involvement; not the hollow sham of prideful vanity, but rather the dedication of giving wholly of one's self to the enhancement of family conesion, the promotion of service to the community, the strengthening of the nation and to the well being of mankind.

This conceptual framework upon which The College is built is dynamic in nature and demands of its members the personal exercise of responsibility and integrity. Election to Fellowship in The College promises not idle association with those who idealize a life of complacency but identification with those who accept the opportunity to actively invest their own lives in the realization and strengthening of those ideals upon which The College is founded.

The ancient heraldic concepts and uses which served our forefathers in the identification of men in armor and the sealing of documents still serve our generation today in promoting and enhancing ideals which are not only desirable but which are fundamental to the survival of a strong and humane republic.

Papa and the brother and sisters families traded their claim in the west each for 160 acres of land near Weatherford. We moved to the little farm where I grew up with all the joys and sorrows of a kid in the country-lots of fun and lots of work. Will Moss had gone out to combine his barley. He will be back in a few hours-all sacked up ready for market. When we harvested the men all came with their oradles to cut the grain. The ladies came to kill the chickens and to get the corn, potatoes and sundry. The youngsters to rush off to the berry path (wild ones) or to climb after grapes for pies. We always had a feast. Then we went to the spring to take cool drinks to the men. In a few years we could carry bundles to be shocked-and finally to help at the thresher.

Uncle Byron and I were partners from the start as I was older. I helped him with the plowing when he learned. But all we had to do was hold the handles. Old Molly did the rest. We hunted the birds nests together and the rabbits. On a misty day we'd slip a bunch of sait and hunt rabbits, kill and broil them and pionic all day. That is if we could steal a match. Matches were so scarce that we had to keep the fire in the fireplace going at all times. Mother got careless once and I had to go borrow fire in a pail. I had to go one and a half miles. Papa was not there to do it with the rifle.

Had my first school at 7 years and at 8 I had a real teacher. I was put in the grammer with the grown men and womenhad 40 pupils and at least half were men and women, but they were anxious to come as they had no chance. We had a great big book with three or four hundred pages. I had missed three lessons of nouns, pronouns and adjectives. Our lesson was verbs. What is a verb? The answer was written on the board. A verb is a word by which something is affirmed. Yes, I got it-remembered next day (and for 70 years) but what in tarnation did affirm mean? Well, it took me seven years to get it, but when I did I could conjugate every verb through all the moods and tenses. The old grammer got too hard before Spring for no one could help me and Papa said that you had better leave it until later, so I ran to school to tell the teacher but he wouldn't have it. He said there was only three more weeks and I was winning the prize. He put his arms around me and out-talked me-so I'm sending you the picture of a nine-year old girl wearing the dress I won. It was blue with yellow rosebuds and yellow trimming. The picture is a copy and too large, but very good. I gave. The original was a tintype. The teacher, Walter Griffith, had them made. I had never seen him again until my Walter was three months old. We just hadn't found a name.

I heard that Papa was very sick, so I went right away to see him. As I ran up through the corral, I saw a livery team from Cisco and I was scared for I knew it had to be the doctor, I saw a wagon and team at the front gate-and a horse with saddle at the side gate. Then I beginning to get peeved as they hadn't let me in on it. I went in through the kitchen and heard such a murmuring but ventured to open the door. Althea said "Here she is now." I looked toward the bed. Papa was propped up and smiling. I glanced and saw a man sitting right in front. I saw the neighbors and looked straight at him (I knew everyone was expecting something.) He had arisen and was waiting to grab me. I says, "That is Mr. Griffith."--and so it was. I got one more good hugging and pounding. Then I went home and named the baby.

The old schoolhouse was where the big boys played town ball and the big girls jumped rope. Our jumping ropes were grapevines. The big old boys would jump with them pretty often. They sawed off an oak sapling and took one of our cotton wood planks that Papa bought from the old fort. He gave us four seesaws, (not teeter totters) and bored a hole large enough to fit the standard, greased it with axle grease and we had a merrygo-round, Nothing was bought. We youngsters always had money, but there was nothing to buy for years. We'd save our money and watch for the apple wagon from Arkansas in the fall, Apples and pecans were our treats for Christmas and anything that could be cut out of dough-no sugar until I was eight years old. We had a store, Papa handled the first load of sugar and coffee for 400 miles with a double team of oxen. We went to see him off and all of the kids in town climbed up on the wheel to look at a blue bucket full of $40.00 gold pieces. We didn't know if we would ever see him again. There were no Indians that way, but the robbers were worse. He made it in four weeks and we got a whole sack of coffee (green) and a barrel of sugar. No one had anything to drink except for what they made from beans or grain parched. All of the neighbors sent word for us not to drink up all that good coffee. So when they came we had coffee in the afternoon and grandmother served them hot cakes made on the fire. She was Scotch and Irish. She made so many old English dishes, all our candles, cheese, "pernatio" for sick folks -- trim the bullets for the guns. She taught us all of the old nursery rhymes and the funny songs. We never had a child's book until I won a spelling match at school, and glory be! I got a book (14 year old) and now there is no such good reading, and I have all the time in the world and cannot read a word. (Ed. note--poor eyesight.) I have cried many times when Papa would read and read at nights and I had to sew, and I was so hungry to hear things. Well, I finally grew up as all good children do-but not so fast as they do now, it took me such a long, long time.

In 1883 we sold the old home and went to Eastland County,
It was a place that Papa found while on an Indian raid in '65.
In the morning we were all packed and ready to start, January 10th little Althea had broken out with the measles, so there was no moving her. Uncle Bill Porter was moving with us, but Aunt Ann and her children were not, so Mother wrapped the baby up and went there and stayed until all of the youngsters had measles, Uncle Byron and Aunt Ella and I had to go along to keep house.
