The last two years of editorship have proven to be an enriching and rewarding experience for me. Not only have I learned a great deal about genealogy and publication, but I have become acquainted with many more of our Society members than I would have otherwise. I am grateful to each of you for the opportunity to serve as Editor and give it up only out of a feeling of necessity.

However, the Society is indeed fortunate to have available Mrs. Helen Lu, and I have no doubt, no apprehension, or hesitation in recommending her for the position of Vice President of Publications. This June issue is evidence of her dedication and ability, for she has capably prepared this issue with astute planning and determined effort. I trust you will support her during the coming months.

To all those who, over these past 24 months, have offered assistance in the myriad of ways, words of "thanks" are so inadequate. Please know that without your help, The Quarterly would not have achieved its present quality.

Our Society, in its twenty-two years, is now at a point where, I feel, it should assume its role of leadership in the nation. No longer are we a local genealogical society; we are national in scope and coverage and with that goes some definite responsibilities.

First of all, realization of the importance of the Society's publication and its relationship to the success of the Society's efforts is imperative. The quality and standards should never be minimized nor sacrificed; the financial investment is worthwhile.

Secondly, the work of the Editor has become more time-consuming, and therefore several months ago I proposed that some of the responsibilities be delegated to others. Three principal categories have worked quite well during that time: Editor, Distribution, and Sales. With these responsibilities relinquished, more time and energy can be spent by the Editor on the actual organization and production of each issue.

Thirdly, the material for publication in The Quarterly is a constant problem, and I encourage you to seriously consider the Editor's position in collecting articles, etc. for printing. It is not the Editor's job to do research. Neither should it be necessary to hurriedly look for something to publish because not enough varied material has been submitted to provide a balanced issue. Therefore, each of you is urged to assume your responsibility for providing the Editor with suitable material for publication in YOUR Quarterly. (The only alternative available would be to change the approach and hire an Editor whose full responsibility it would be to collect, select, and publish The Quarterly.) Until such time, members must assist the Editor faithfully in this phase of the publication effort. The national coverage, as well as local and state, of genealogical research will assure us of a better opportunity to meet the research needs of all of users.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

BOOK REVIEW

SIMPSON COUNTY, KENTUCKY RECORDS, COMPILED BY SIMPSON COUNTY HISTORICAL SOCIETY, FRANKLIN, KENTUCKY, 42134.

ANYONE WHO HAS EVER ATTEMPTED GENEALOGICAL RESEARCH IN SIMPSON COUNTY, KENTUCKY IS ACUTELY AWARE OF THE SCARCITY OF EARLY RECORDS.

THE COURT HOUSE BURNED IN 1882 AND WITH IT MOST OF THE COUNTY RECORDS; MANY OF THE EARLY FAMILY CEMETERIES HAVE BEEN DESTROYED BY TIME AND THE FARMER'S PLOW; AND, VALUABLE OLD BIBLES CONTAINING FAMILY RECORDS HAVE DISAPPEARED WITH THE PASSING OF TIME.

THANKS TO EFFORTS OF THE SIMPSON COUNTY HISTORICAL SOCIETY AND ESPECIALLY TO THE LABORS AND DIRECTION OF IT'S CHAIRMAN DOROTHY D. STEERS WE NOW HAVE A BOOK WHICH IN THE OPINION OF THIS REVIEWER MAKES AN IMPORTANT CONTRIBUTION TO ANY RESEARCHER WHO IS INTERESTED IN THE PEOPLE OF EARLY SIMPSON COUNTY, KENTUCKY.

THE BOOK IS A COMPILATION OF SOURCE MATERIALS ON PEOPLE OF SIMPSON COUNTY. IT CONTAINS THE FIRST TWO SIMPSON CO., KENTUCKY CENSUS RECORDS 1820 AND 1830, LISTING THE NAMES OF THE HEAD OF EACH HOUSEHOLD AND THE NUMBER IN EACH HOUSEHOLD ACCORDING TO SEX AND AGE. THE LIST IS IN THE ORDER OF THE ORIGINAL CENSUS, INDICATING NEIGHBORS IN MOST INSTANCES.

THERE ARE BIRTH, MARRIAGES AND DEATH RECORDS FROM 88 FAMILY BIBLES; HEADSTONE INSCRIPTIONS FROM 26 CEMETERIES AND 65 FAMILY BURIAL PLOTS; AND, THE NAMES OF REVOLUTIONARY WAR VETERANS RESIDING IN THE COUNTY WHO RECEIVED PENSIONS UNDER THE ACTS OF 1818 AND 1832.

COPIES OF THIS BOOK ARE AVAILABLE FROM: SIMPSON COUNTY HISTORICAL SOCIETY, P.O. BOX 162, FRANKLIN, KY 42134. THE PRICE IS $9.00 PLUS .50 CENTS POSTAGE.

IF YOU HAVE BEEN HAVING TROUBLES IN SIMPSON COUNTY, KY., THANKS TO DOROTHY STEERS AND HER FELLOW WORKERS YOUR WORK MAY NOW BE A LITTLE EASIER.

LEONARD ALLEN HUFFINES, REVIEWER

CIVIL WAR SOLDIERS FROM BRUNSWICK COUNTY, VIRGINIA

by Dr. W. M. Pritchett

In the previous issue of The Quarterly there appeared two stories of Confederate soldiers from Brunswick County, Virginia, submitted by Dr. W. M. Pritchett who has been researching these men for a number of years and has written biographies on some 900. His stories that appeared here were of two Confederate soldiers who came to Texas after the Civil War and lived and died in the State. We are pleased to present two more of these stories, namely, those of Private Joseph Henry Laffoon, who lived near Eastland, Texas and Col. Frederick Samuel Bass, who came to Texas before the War and served as Colonel in Texas' famous Hood's Brigade.

COL. FREDERICK SAMUEL BASS, son of Benjamin S. Bass and his wife Sarah Pettway, was born in Brunswick County October 27, 1831 at "Cedardale," the home of his parents near Stoney Mount Post Office. The Bass home was north of the Meherrin River and two or three miles west of Pelhams Church. Spratley's Mill on Reedy Creek was east and back of the Bass plantation.

Benjamin Bass died before 1850. When the Census was taken in that year his widow Sarah was living at "Cedardale" and living with her were her daughters, Margaret, who was 16, and Emily, 13. Also with her was Elizabeth M. Bass, 53, who has not been identified. Sarah's son Frederick was away at school, as will be explained below, and her son John was away at the time also. The 1840 Census indicated that there probably were two more girls in the family. Margaret married Edward Taylor, son of Miles Taylor in 1860. Emily married Dr. John E. Gregory of Lunenburg County in 1869.

Frederick's paternal grandparents were Edward Bass and Elizabeth Smith, and his maternal grandparents were Edward and Sarah Pettway. He attended a private school at Stoney Mount that was conducted by Mr. George Stone. One of his teachers was Stephen Pendleton, a graduate of Virginia Military Institute, and this had an important influence on Frederick's life.

Frederick entered VMI in 1848 and graduated with distinction in the Class of 1851, ranking third in a class of twenty-nine. He chose teaching as a career and taught several years in a private school in Petersburg. He also is said to have taught in a college in Warrenton, North Carolina.

In the summer of 1857 Frederick said "goodbye" to his family and went to Texas. He became a professor of Mathematics and "Military Tactics" at Marshall University, Marshall, Texas (actually a small college). The President of the University was Robert A. Ezell who also had connections back in Brunswick County. He was a nephew of Buckner Davis Ezell who was great-grandfather of Mrs. Alice Ezell Samford and others of Brunswick County today. We are holding a copy of a long and interesting letter (loaned to us by Mrs. Samford) which was written to Mrs. Ezell by Robert from Marshall, Texas, in 1857.

President Robert Ezell died at Marshall in 1859, and Frederick Bass became President, serving until the Civil War.

At the first call to arms in 1861 Frederick left his work at Marshall and enlisted in The Cause of the Confederate States. He raised a company of Infantry called the "Marshall Guards" (also called the Bass Grays), and he was chosen Captain. The Company became Co. E, 1st Texas Infantry Regiment, General John Bell Hood's Brigade, Army of Northern Virginia.

Frederick soon rose to the rank of Colonel and was assigned to command the 1st

Texas Infantry Regiment. He fought in all the fierce and bloody battles in which Hood's Brigade was engaged in Virginia during the first two years of the War. He was wounded in the Seven Days' Battles around Richmond in 1862. He took a conspicuous part in the Battle of Gettysburg, especially in Hood's famous assault on the Round Tops on July 2, 1863. This event has been eclipsed in memory, of course, by General Pickett's charge the following day.

Frederick was severely wounded while leading his regiment in the Battle of Chickamauga on September 18, 1863. He recovered from this second wound and after a time was back with his Brigade in Virginia where they were helping to defend Richmond and Petersburg.

Col. Bass led Hood's Brigade in a battle at White Oak Swamp near Richmond on August 16, 1864. In this battle General Wade Hampton's Brigade and the Texas Brigade defeated a Federal Cavalry Division, and it is said that "nearly ever man in the Texas Brigade got a horse, a six-shooter, and a sabre." It has been told by a Texas soldier who participated in the battle that General W. H. F. Lee came by to thank Col. Bass personally for his skillful management of his men in this engagement.

Another engagement important to our story here is the one on the Darby Town Road on October 7, 1864. Col. Bass was wounded again in this battle; he was shot twice in the same leg that had been injured by shrapnel at Gettysburg. He had been struck by "spent" minnie balls, however, and damage was light. Leader of the Brigade in this fight was General John Gregg who was shot in the neck and he died instantly.

Col. Bass continued to command Hood's Brigade until March 1865, at which time Col. R. M. Powell, who had been captured at Gettysburg and had been exchanged took command as the senior colonel of the Brigade. Col. Bass commanded his old 1st Texas Regiment.

Hood's Brigade, or what was left of it, was on The Retreat from Petersburg. Frederick Bass did not know it at the time, because the commission did not overtake him, but he had been promoted to Brigadier General of the Confederate Army, which made him commander of this famous Brigade. He and his men moved on to Appomattox Court House and surrendered there with General Lee April 9, 1865.

After the surrender, General Bass left Appomattox on April 14 and returned to Brunswick County to visit his mother and other relatives and friends, as he no doubt had done while serving The Cause in Virginia for four long years. After completing his visits here he went to New York to visit his brother John whose reason for being there at this time cannot be explained. General Bass then returned to Texas, and to the college he left before entering Confederate service.

On July 29, 1868 Frederick married Mary E. Ezell, the talented and accomplished daughter of Robert A. Ezell, the former President of the college at Marshall. Frederick and Mary had a son named Robert Ezell Bass. Mary died about 1870. Robert lived for only a few years (one account says five, another says eleven).

Frederick never re-married. He taught at Marshall University until 1882 when he resigned with the intention of returning to his native state to live. He wanted to go back home to spend his last years. Before he got away he was offered a position at a college in Jefferson, Texas, and he accepted this, thereby making a decision which led him to spend the rest of his life in Texas. He moved to Texarkana, Texas, around 1890 and taught until 1894.

In 1895, failing health and a disease of the eyes, which finally resulted in blindness, caused him to retire from educational work. In December of that year he moved to the Soldiers' Home in Austin, Texas. An operation on his eyes restored his sight, and he lived at the Home in feeble health for about two years.

The old Confederate General died in Austin July 9, 1897 of cancer. He was buried with military honors in the State Cemetery in Austin where are buried so many Texas' illustrious heroes, including Confederate Generals Ben McCulloch, W. R. Scurry, and Albert Sidney Johnston. Frederick is one of at least four of our Confederate soldiers who lie buried beneath the soil of the Lone Star State.

One writer has said of Frederick Samuel Bass, "Conscious of life having been well done by him the old hero's noble and dauntless spirit passed to its eternal reward with faith so sublime as to triumph over death." Governor Charles A. Culber-son of Texas, another graduate of VMI, said of Frederick, "A rare and perfect gentle- man, the golden age of the South produced few gentler and nobler men, and the gray wrapped no more dauntless and intrepid Spirit."

Those who may be interested in reading the full story of Frederick Samuel Bass' participation in the Civil War and the great part played by the men in his famous Brigade will want to read HOOD'S TEXAS BRIGADE: LEE'S GRENADIER GUARD by our friend Col. Harold B. Simpson. This is the dramatic story of men who fought for a principal and remained defiant to the end. The book was published in 1971 by Hill Junior College Press, Hillsboro, Texas 76645. This book contains many reference to our own Frederick Samuel Bass.

Col. Simpson had said, "The war record of Hood's Brigade was a gallant and glorious one. It was a record written in blood, battle smoke, and bandages from the swamps of Chickamauga Creek in northern Georgia to the rock strewn hills of Southern Pennsylvania." The Texas Brigade fought in all the battles engaged in by the Army of Northern Virginia except Chancellorsville. It may be remembered that General Longstreet had several brigades with him at Suffolk, Virginia, at the time the Battle of Chancellorsville was foreseen. His command was summoned to Chancellorsville, but Generals Lee and Jackson defeated Joe Hooker before General Longstreet's men could reach the battle scene. They were passing through Richmond when they received word that the Battle had been won.

The Texans with General Lee's Army participated in 38 engagements, including six of the greatest battles of the War--Gaines' Mill, Second Manassas, Antietam, Gettysburg, Chickamauga, and The Wilderness. At Antietam the 1st Texas Infantry, commanded by Frederick Samuel Bass, suffered the greatest casualty rate of any regiment, North or South, during the War--82.3 percent. The Brigade itself at the same Battle had a loss percentage of 64.1 percent. Of an estimated 4,000 men who enlisted in the three Texas Regiments of the Brigade, only 473 (12 percent) were left to lay down their arms at Appomattox Court House.

The dust jacket illustration for Col. Simpson's book is "The Battle of the Crater," painted by John Adams Elder (1833-1895) and is reproduced in color through the courtesy of the Commonwealth Club, Richmond, Virginia. The men of Hood's Brigade were station in the immediate area of the explosion set off by the Federals July 30, 1864 but they were re-assigned two days before the event.

The writer has a copy of a letter which Frederick S. Bass wrote to Virginia Military Institute May 13, 1893 in which he asks for a statement from the School to the effect that he had graduated there in 1851. He said that his home had burned and that the diploma he received at VMI was destroyed. He was at Jefferson, Texas, when he wrote the letter.

SOLDIERS continued

PVT. JOSEPH HENRY LAFFOON, son of Simon and Mildred Laffoon who lived in the northern part of Brunswick County before the Civil War. In fact, Simon died before 1850, and in that year Joseph and his mother Mildred were living near Edmonds' Store. Joseph was born September 16, 1836 and is said to have been one of 12 children in the family, most of who married before 1850 and have not been identified.

In 1860 Joseph was living with his sister Susan J. Samford, 32 wife of William Samford, and her children: William B., 14; Harriet Ann Paulena, 11; Susan F., 9; and Urban Stanford, 7. Joseph was working as a carpenter. Also living in the home was George L. Laffoon, 43, a brother of Joseph and Susan, who was working as overseer of the farm. George later moved to Kentucky.

When the Civil War came Joseph did not enlist immediately. He was conscripted in 1862 and he filed for an exemption, which was approved. He gave as the basis for his exemption "an injury" he had received and which affected him quite seriously.

However, Joseph later was ordered to report for service in the Confederate Army; his exemption was terminated. He then paid $500 to a substitute, but he finally had to go to the Army.

Joseph joined the Ebenezer Greys, who were Co. E, 56th Virginia Infantry Regiment. Available records fail to say exactly when he entered the service, but apparently it was late in the War.

Joseph fought around Petersburg during the siege there and was on The Retreat. He was captured April 6, 1865 near Burkeville as the Army was moving toward Appomattox Court House. Joseph's grandson Alfred Lafoon of Dixon, Missouri, says in a letter to the writer that he recalls his grandfather telling him that he realized the War was lost, so he set his gun down by a tree and surrendered. He was held prisoner at Burkeville and paroled from there April 21, 1865.

Joseph came home from the War and, like so many other Confederate soldiers after the surrender, he wanted to go west to start a new life. He had been going with a girl named Martha ("Mattie") Rainey before the War and her family moved to Texas after the War. Preliminary research indicates that she probably was a daughter of Williamson Rainey and his wife Elizabeth of Mecklenburg County, Virginia. She was born about 1828.

Mattie lived in Virginia during the Civil War. Her home was said to have been about 50 miles from Petersburg. She used to tell her grandchildren about how the Yankees came to their house looking for food, especially fresh vegetables. One of her grandchildren recalls that he asked his grandmother how many Yankees there were, and she said that as far as she could see down the road it was full of Yankees.

Some members of Mattie's family apparently came to Texas before the Civil War. Her sister Mary married a Parrish, and her husband was killed at the Battle of Shiloh in April 1862. In her later years Mary lived with Mattie and Joseph. She was born in Virginia in 1831 and died in Texas in 1914. She is buried in Eastland, Texas.

Mattie lost two brothers in the Civil War, one in Pickett's charge at Gettysburg July 3, 1863. Another brother, Charles W. Rainey, came to Texas and at one time claimed ownership of the famous Padre Island along the southern Gulf Coast of Texas. When he died he willed ownership of the Island to his sister Mattie Laffoon. However, the State of Texas took possession of the Island. The family still has papers pertaining to the ownership of the Island.

Joseph H. Laffoon and Mattie Rainey were married in Waco, Texas, in 1870. They apparently went to Mississippi and spent some time there.

Joseph and Mattie returned to Texas and lived first in Denton County, which is north of Dallas. In 1876 they moved to Eastland County, which is in the west central part of the State, and which today is ranching and farming country. The town of Eastland, the County seat, is on I-20, some 55 miles east of Abilene and 100 miles west of Fort Worth ("Out Where the West Begins").

They had two children. Charles Ernest was born in Mississippi October 8, 1872 and Martha ("Mattie") was born at Denton, Texas, September 16, 1875.

Joseph Laffoon died at his home near Eastland January 19, 1892. The old Confederate from Virginia was buried in Eastland Cemetery. His wife Mattie died later, but the date of her death is not known. She is buried at Eastland Cemetery.

Ernest Laffoon, who went by the name of Lafoon, married Mina Lyerla, daughter of Jacob Lyerla from Illinois, in September 1897. Ernest was a school teacher. In addition to one baby who died in infancy, Ernest and Mina had a daughter named Bertie and three sons: Alfred, who was mentioned above; Finis C., who married Grace Latson in 1927 and lives in Eastland; and Charles E., who married Maurine Johnson and lives in Baird, Texas.

Charles and Maurine Lafoon have two daughters: Stephanie and Judith Ann (Mrs. Tony Adair). Alfred and Finis have supplied much of the information contained in this story of their grandfather Joseph Henry Laffoon. Bertie Lafoon married A. E. Barnes and now lives in Bakersfield, California.

Ernest Lafoon died June 8, 1957 at more than 84 years of age. Mina died November 11, 1970; they are buried at the Eastland Cemetery.

Joseph's daughter Mattie married James Silas Butler on December 15, 1895 at Eastland and lived in Lamesa, about 60 miles south of Lubbock in far west Texas. Si was a native of Tennessee. He died August 10, 1942. Mattie died May 31, 1973 at 98 years of age at the home of her daughter Stalla Lou (Mrs. W. E. Sealy) of Lamesa. They are buried in Eastland Cemetery. They had two daughters; Vera Blanche, who married Miles Awalt and lives in Eastland, and Iva Ruth, who died at age 11. There also was a son who died in infancy.

Stella Lou Butler first married Ray R. Hardwick and they had a son James H. Hardwick who lives at Lubbock, Texas. They were divorced and Stella Lou married W. E. Sealy who is now retired as water superintendent of Lamesa. They now live at Cross Plains, Texas.

RESOLVING CONFLICTING DATES FOUND

IN GENEALOGICAL RESEARCH

by: Robert Bruce Swann

Have you ever been frustrated by the unwelcome discovery of two or more dates on which the same event is said to have occurred? The conflict may be in the year, month, day of the month or day of the week. These conflicts may have come about for several reasons:

1. More than one person may have written down or dictated information to the best of his or her memory or knowledge.
2. An error may have been made by a person, such as the Clerk of the Court when he transferred the original material to a permanent record book.
3. Information preserved on paper or stone may have been partially obliterated by age, fire, water, weather, etc.

In some cases, because of the fact that many early records include the day of the week it may be possible to judge the possibility or impossibility of the correctness of a date, or fill in a missing digit by using the Perpetual Calendar.

Below are some examples from the records of one family:

Example 1 - "My grandmother, Judith Swann, was born the 5th day of February, 1589, being Wednesday...."

Use of the Perpetual Calendar this information is found to be correct.

Example 2 - A water stained Bible record reads: "Caroline Mary Swann daughter of John and Jane was born of a Monday between sunset and dark the 7th July 1772."

As the Colonists were more sure of the day of the week than the day of the month, we may feel fairly certain in deciding, by use of the Perpetual Calendar, that the only Monday in July, 1772 which had '7' as a digit was the 27th.

By using the Perpetual Calendar, perhaps you too will be able to resolve some of the conflicting dates you may have found in your research.

To USE THE CALENDAR:—Look up the Index Numbers corresponding to the Century, the Year (last two figures), and the Month, respectively, in the first three tables; add these three numbers together and add also the Day of the Month; in the fourth table, opposite the sum obtained, read the Day of the Week.

NOTE.—In England the change from the Julian System or Old Style to the Gregorian System or New Style, was made in September, 1752, when the 11 days 3rd to 13th inclusive were omitted, and Wednesday Sept. 2 was immediately followed by Thursday Sept. 14. Other countries made the change at dates varying from 1582 to 1923. (See p. 162a.)

If it is desired to look up a date after 1752 in Old Style, or before 1752 in New Style, it can be done by taking a date 700 years earlier in the first case or 400 years later in the second case; e.g., 1923 in Old Style is the same as 1223, and 1582 in New Style is the same as 1982.
