Researching in Texas, like other states, involves looking into its genealogical resources and repositories. However, because of the unique heritage of Texas as a Spanish territory, a Mexican state, an independent republic, and a state within the United States, Texas genealogical research involves much more than understanding British Colonial traditions. Come hear four experts in Texas research and records.

- Hispanic Texas: Genealogical Stewpot - Janet Khashab, Accredited Genealogist and President of Dallas Genealogical Society
- Resources at the Texas General Land Office - James Harkins, Outreach Manager, Texas General Land Office
- Records & Researching in the Texas Republic (1836-1845) - Jeri Steele, Professional Genealogist and Senior Computer Programmer
- Genealogical Resources at the Texas State Library and Archives Commission - Diana Houston, Assistant Director, Information Services, Texas State Library and Archives

Lunch and breaks are included in registration. Parking in the library's underground garage will be at the reduced rate of $2.00. When you register, please let us know of any special needs.

Register before May 1st for a reduced fee. If you prefer to register by mail, download the pdf version of registration form and mail with a check to DGS Texas Seminar, P.O.
