Twenty Members Enjoy Week at Salt Lake Library
By Ann Melugin Williams

It was the best of times. It was the worst of times.
- Imagine a whole week to do research, eat, and sleep. A genealogist's dream.
- Imagine searching dozens of rolls of microfilm and dozens of books and coming up with five or six possible fourth cousins twice removed on your mother's side. That's right—the nightmare.

But wait! There was one lawsuit that might just take you back two generations or more in the Gregory line if you can get the testimony from the county.

That was my experience on the Dallas Genealogical Society trip to Salt Lake City, but others made wonderful finds—five or six generations of a family.

Twenty of us took the trip October 17-24. We had Dallas area researchers visiting the Family History Library for the first time—Connie Perdue, Nancy Worden, and Mary Moore, but most of the group went last year. Twenty is a good size group -- You can always find somebody to eat lunch with, but you aren’t falling all over each other in the library.

Leaders for the trip were Tresa Tatyrek, DGS President, and Shirley Sloat, DGS Vice-president, Fundraising. One of our members, Alan Miller, presented a copy of his new book, Apprenticeships in Middle Tennessee, to the Family History Library.

We didn’t think it would be possible, but we found this library improved since last year. The family history books have been moved from the Joseph Smith Building to the first floor of the library. The idea was to keep those pesky tourists who want only to look at family histories on the first floor and out of the hair of us real researchers. It works well.

The other United States and Canadian books have been moved to the third floor of the library, where the administrative offices used to be. You can usually find a nice table with lots of space for sorting on the third floor.

After a day or two, you find your favorite place or places to work, and you feel right at home in the library.

PRESIDENT’S COLUMN

The magic of researching in Salt Lake City closed out our extra special activities for the 2004 year. Every member of the group came away with new information and new knowledge. I was reminded by one member that I always find something because I go well-prepared and this year was no exception. I forayed my way in to German and British research for a short period of time and found what I sought very quickly as well as my usual happy findings in the US film.

The December General meeting, per the new By-laws will also be our annual business meeting. We will be kicking off our 50th year celebration as well as presenting the Writing and Service Awards and installing new officers. I hope to see many of you there.

2005 holds some special treats on top of the regular meetings as we celebrate our 50th year. Three lectures are planned for the spring starting in February. Most will be on methodology and the slate of speakers is superb. The Beginners Internet Workshops will start again in February and run through July. Keep an eye out for information on the Institute which is still in the planning stages, but I can tell you it will be a success, as was this past year’s event.

This will be the last of my columns to you as my tenure as President is coming to an end. The Society By-laws wisely limit the time a person can serve on our Board. This is to encourage new volunteers to get involved as well as to allow for change to occur in a positive way. Every new volunteer brings new and fresh ideas to the table.

I want to thank all the people who said yes and no when I asked them for help. I think both answers are acceptable when a person’s time is involved.

There are a great many people who are dedicated to making the Dallas Genealogical Society the wonderful organization that it is! These dedicated people will continue to support our Society along with new members, in the years to come. I’ve enjoyed working with and getting to know a lot of great people, many who have become my friends.

I wish all of you luck in finding the ancestors you seek so that you may experience the exuberant feeling of success as you get to know your family.

Tresa

HATS OFF!

Sometimes there are people behind the scenes who make all the difference in the world to the successful daily function of an organization.

Mary Ruth McKenny's function as mail administrator is priceless! She did a yeoman's job keeping up with registration for our various events this year as well as retrieving the mountain of correspondence and distributing it to the correct recipient and entering membership data in the database.

Does the DGS Membership know how to make Lloyd smile? We sure do! DGS donated $8,000 to the Dallas Public Library, designated toward purchasing resources for the 8th Floor Genealogy section of the library.

Tresa Tatyrek made the presentation at the October General Meeting. Let's all smile!
HAPPENINGS AROUND
DPL’S 8TH FLOOR VOLUNTEER DESK

Susan Morris has openings for volunteers to assist on DPL’s Eighth Floor:

1st & 4th Fridays  11:00 a.m. – 1:00 p.m.
Every Friday       3:00 p.m. – 5:00 p.m.
2nd Saturday       1:00 p.m. – 3:00 p.m.

Enjoy working with great Genealogy Department staff and helping others with their research.

DGS SOCIETY PROGRAMS

DGS General and Special Interest Group meetings are held at Dallas’ J. Erik Jonsson Central Library
1515 Young Street
in the Plaza level auditorium, unless otherwise noted.

DGS GENERAL MEETING
USUALLY MEETS ON THE FOURTH MONDAY

Our monthly meeting begins at 7:00 p.m. with our speaker presentation to follow about 7:30 p.m.

- Come early. We begin at 6:00 p.m. with refreshments and fellowship, and at 6:30 p.m. everyone is invited to an informal Q & A session.

Monday, December 13
Annual Awards Dinner & Holiday Celebration
This year is very special, as we are beginning the celebration of DGS’ 50th Anniversary. During this evening, we will recognize several outstanding contributors to Dallas genealogy, install new officers, and recognize the winners of the 2004 DGS Writing Awards. There will be time to visit with new friends and old during the reception (6:00 p.m.), followed by dinner at (7:00 p.m.), all in the O’Hara Room on the 7th Floor.

This is a complimentary, members-only dinner, but requires advance registration. If you plan on attending, either call 469-948-1106 and leave a message or send an email to: celebrate@dallags.org

Monday, January 24
Speaker: Eldon Edgin
Topic: What to Do When the Records Conflict
His presentation includes examples of conflicting data from census records, tombstones, family Bibles, family traditions and other sources. Included are guidelines for analysis and resolution (where possible) of the conflicts.

Eldon J. Edgin has been an amateur genealogist for over 40 years. He discovered the Genealogy Section of the Dallas Public Library in the early 1960’s as a result of an article in The Dallas Times Herald and has been a frequent patron ever since.

He has made several trips to the LDS Library in Salt Lake City and to many county courthouses and state archives. He has done research in several Southern states, particularly with census, land, probate, tax, cemetery, and church records.

AFRICAN AMERICAN
GENEALOGY INTEREST GROUP (AAGIG)
MEETS ON THE THIRD TUESDAY

The AAGIG promotes the study of Black genealogy and provides information through educational programs on tracing African-American roots. Reserve these dates on your calendar:

Tuesday, December 21
Holiday Celebration--meet and greet new members, and make plans for the upcoming year.

Tuesday, January 18

COMPUTER INTEREST GROUP (CIG)
MEETS ON THE FIRST TUESDAY

OUR PURPOSE: Explore the use and expand our knowledge of computer technology as we search, collect, manage, and publish information related to genealogy.

Tuesday, December 7
Speaker: Marti Fox
Topic: "Who Better to Write Your Obituary?"
Who knows your family best? You, the genealogist, of course. And so, why have you not written your obituary? Tonight we will delve into the good and the bad, using real examples, and get you thinking about putting your own together...not leaving it to chance and emotion at your passing.

and

Speaker: John Wylie
Topic: "File Management” and “How to Download and Install Software”
Using real world examples, this talk and handout takes the genealogist step by step through proven methods for organizing files so they can be located and used effectively. It also demonstrates how to download software off the Web and install it on a Windows based system.

Tuesday, January 4
Speaker: Don Raney
Topic: "Techniques to Solve Difficult Ancestor Problems"
I have just worked up a new program for my Students at Richland College. It consists of two step-by-step examples of how I was able to start with an ancestor in the early 1900's and work the line back for over 100 years, through three states, to the 1700's.

All of the research was done on the Internet. I used Ancestry, Heritage Quest, and Family Search for the census searches; the BLM site for federal land records; many county GenWeb sites for local marriage, probate, and land records; several RootsWeb e-mail archives; and occasionally a Google search to find missing data. I presented the problem to my advanced students to demonstrate the research techniques that will work to solve the difficult ancestor problems.

Tuesday, February 1
Speaker: Diane Bentley
Topic: "Okay, I Wrote My Family Story...How will I ever get it indexed?"

DGS LOCK-IN

Betty Jean highly recommends that people with German immigrants who came to Texas look at the Auswandererkartei in Austin. These are called German Immigrant Contracts, and they are found in the General Land Office records at the Texas State Library and Archives Building. She also recommends the book A New Land Beckoned by Chester W. and Ethel H. Geue, which can be found at the Dallas Public Library.

Most of us concentrated on the American colonies and the United States.

After working a couple of days on the Nelson family, Liz Thurmond decided to “put my brick wall on hold for about the next 10 years.” Instead she switched to her female Warren line in Kentucky, which she hadn’t known about for long. She found several deeds and an 1863 estate inventory with specific information on all the kids.

Lana Filgo, president of the Lancaster Genealogical Society, found maps platted with all the owners’ names. She also happened upon a will witnessed by John Ladymon.

Dava Ladymon was happy to see this because it put the Ladymon family in the colonies earlier than she had known about. She then traced the Ladymons back to the 1400s in England. She researched her Armytrader (yes, that’s a real surname) line in Accomack County, Virginia. The family was believed to be French Huguenots, but she found them in England. She discovered another Revolutionary War soldier that she didn’t know about.

Shirley Hawn worked on her Smoot line. When she said, “Smoot,” I sat up straight and repeated, “Smoot?” One of my female ancestors is thought to have been a Smoot, but no one has been able to prove it. Shirley gave me a lead from a family history that sends me to a new county in Tennessee to look for Elizabeth Smoot.

Tresa Tatyrek looked at a roll of “Real Estate Records” in Spartanburg County, South Carolina, and found them to be real estate at probate. In one of these records, she identified all the family members of one family she was researching.
Shirley Sloat worked in New York, and Emily Ouren was back and forth across the Kentucky-Tennessee line, looking for Wrights. She’d never expected to find the Kentucky family in Tennessee, but they were “right near” the border and had parceled out kids on both sides of the line.

I exhausted Spartanburg County, South Carolina probate records looking for my Bannisters. Then Tresa told me I should check land records before probate records. I still didn’t make a connection. So I took a tip from Liz and switched to the Gregory family on Day 3. That’s when I found the lawsuit that I need to follow up on in Union Co., South Carolina. But I know that I exhausted the county records at the Family History Library.

“I didn’t make any new giant revelations but I found some interesting wills and maybe one new lead,” said Connie Perdue. “I thoroughly enjoyed the trip but just barely scratched the surface of what I could research there.” One mistake Connie said she made was to spend about a day on an un-indexed roll of microfilm. It’s better to start with film that’s indexed in the interest of saving time. Also it’s better to concentrate on the items that you can’t order from home, such as books and films that are stored in the vault. Connie enjoyed getting to use the computers for online databases and found some of the seminars helpful in locating materials. “I would definitely make the trip again,” she said.

After the library closed on Saturday night, we got together and pooled our left-over snacks and drinks. We’d had fun, and we knew that most of us would pile our research on our bedroom/office floors until we “got around to it.”

But this time Shirley Hawn challenged us to get together in six months and report on our analysis of our new records. We committed to a dinner meeting in six months. What pressure! I don’t know about the rest, but I’m going to do it. Now I’d better get that letter off to the Union Co. courthouse.

SAVE TEXAS HISTORY!
by Patricia Carr Biczynski

Here’s your chance! The Texas General Land Office (GLO) is asking Texans to adopt old documents and maps by contributing to the conservation of the more than 35 million papers residing in its archives.

“If your ancestors received land grants during Texas’ early years, please sign up to “adopt” your forebear’s original grant document. Restoration of most files will cost approximately $100 to have the paper de-acidified and tears repaired. A certificate showing your adoption will be placed in the file so genealogical researchers of the future will have one more link to your family’s history.”

My ancestor, Abram Trigg Smith, received a Robertson County 3rd Class land grant of 640 acres in 1839, which was located some years later in Ellis County. He also bought “a soldier’s claim” from a Texas revolutionary. The latter was granted in the other fellow’s name, but patented in Abram’s name. It was located in southernmost Dallas County, close to the Ellis County border, and it fronted on the Trinity River. These documents I want to preserve.

The General Land Office has a similar “Adopt-A-Map” program. There’s no requirement that you adopt an entire map; you can contribute toward the preservation of any map on its list.

Again, I found that Abram T. Smith spent one whole week in April 1839 as a chain carrier for a Milam County survey crew headed by George Erath. Abram, together with his brother, Thomas Ingles Smith, ranged up and down Spring Creek in what is now Burleson County, just west of the Brazos River. I’m not sure those maps survived the Milam County 1874 fire but, as funds permit, I’d love to see at least one of the eight survey maps preserved.

What GLO would like to do is scan its maps, put them on the Internet for public use and retire the originals. For a list of adoptable maps, consult the GLO web site at http://www.glo.state.tx.us, and look under Archives & Records. But first, the maps need to be conserved.

This seems like a wonderful project for genealogical and legacy groups to support. I like to contribute to efforts and organizations that have a multiplier effect. The thought that some other Smith descendant 150 years hence could look at Abram’s patent documents comforts me so much that I am putting a request in my obituary that funds go to GLO for my family maps and papers instead of “a charity of your choice.”

The contact person at GLO is Susan Dorsey, 512-463-5274, or susan.dorsey@glo.state.tx.us. For an overview of the entire program, the web site is www.savetexashistory.org.

There are several places that provide free this service. (www.yahoo.com and www.mail.com) You read your mail through their web mail access. You can print off the message, respond to the message, or forward it to yourself (at your current for-pay email address) if it is something pertinent that you want to keep in your email files. You can pay a little extra at any of the free sites and have the mail forwarded to your current e-mail address and update it if you change your ISP.

To sign up, go to one of the providers of this free service and click on their sign-in or sign-up links and complete the form(s). Genealogists, Abstractors, Transcribers

The Dallas Journal needs you!

Have you made a great discovery? a medium-size or small discovery? If it involves people in Dallas County, have you considered writing it up for the Dallas Journal? Maybe you found a will or a lawsuit that solved a problem that you’d been working on for five years. Maybe you used the tax or deed records to identify your ancestor among the 200 John Smiths in Dallas.

Have you abstracted or transcribed records related to Dallas County? The Journal needs family Bible records, letters, diaries, and other personal records as well as censuses of institutions or tax lists.

Would you be willing to help on a group project for the Journal? We especially need volunteers with laptop computers to continue the extraction of the World War I Draft Registration records. We also have donated family Bible records and obituaries to be transcribed.

If you think you might have something of interest to Dallas County researchers, or if you would like to work on an assigned project for the next Journal, please contact editor Ann Williams at 214-375-6043 or journal@dallasgenealogy.org.

Juan Bautista Chapa

- Born 1631 in Arbisola, a small village outside Genoa, Italy. Parents, Bartolome Schiapapria and Batestina Badi. Very literate middle class family, owned a vineyard.
- Studied for the priesthood in Spain for two years.
- At 18 years old Chapa emigrated[sic] to New Spain.
- Meets Captain Alonso De Leon, who chronicled 50 years of colonization activities of Nuevo Leon, starting date 1577. He found no governmental interest in publishing.
- Chapa served in a clerical position under De Leon and also performed ranch and administrative work.
- Appointed as Secretary to the State of Nuevo Leon in 1662 by Governor Zavala.
- Chapa served an uninterrupted forty years under nine governors.
- He held the office of second-in-command in governmental and war matters.
- Chapa rode out on all expeditions. He made detailed maps and pinpointed major land features with observed longitude and latitude. He kept meticulous records, adding 60 years and multiple generations to the work of Alonso De Leon.

- He did not identify himself in any way. “…and if I remain unknown, they will not have a target to shoot at.”
- 219 years later, in 1909, his manuscript, Historia del Nuevo Reino de León, is published and credit is given to an Unknown Author.
- 1961 Chapa identified through the work of Israel Cavazos Garza, Historian for the State Nuevo Leon.
- 1990 Cavazos Garza prepared a more exhaustive study of the autor anónimo in which he stresses the value of Chapa's work which covers about forty Texas counties.

Editor: The 1915 photo in the Somos Primos, November edition, is of his maternal grandparents, Alberto and Petra Chapa plus 15 aunts and uncles, complete with birth dates and some death dates. The photo was taken in Sabinas Hidalgo, Mexico, a small town, about 70 miles from the border city of Laredo.

Bonnie (editor), put her work skills (retrieving medical records for lawyers and insurance companies) into gathering information from family members. Her husband is Ruben Chapa, the oldest of the children of Christobal Chapa and Esperanza Jimenez Chapa.

These families start in Alice, Texas and now live in Missouri, Colorado, Texas, Arizona, and Illinois.

This article is quite extensive and even gives the surnames of those who have entered into the Chapa Family Clan, by generation – Immigrants, First Generation US residents/citizens, and Second Generation US residents/citizens. Worth reading and perhaps buying the book.
A special gift for a special man! The SLC researchers’ group found a ‘book’ necktie. Shirley Sloat presented this fun gift to Lloyd at the October General meeting.

National Archives to go Digital
Sent by George Gause, ggause@panam.edu

The National Archives will award contracts of greater than $20 million to begin building the Electronic Records Archives (ERA). ERA will be a comprehensive, systematic and dynamic means for preserving virtually any kind of electronic record, free from dependence on any specific hardware or software. The project, encompassing several petabytes (one million gigabytes) of data, is scheduled to open by 2007, and is expected to be completed by 2011.

December 4 – The Legend of Bonnie and Clyde Tour
Uncover the lives of those famous outlaw lovers from Dallas as we travel into West Dallas, Oak Cliff, Dallas and the now modern ambush highways of Irving. See the last remaining building in Dallas where Bonnie worked as a young “porcelain-skinned” waitress; where Clyde was hustled away daily by the “laws;” a “safe house” where a gunfight broke out between Clyde Barrow and six officers in 1933; the site of the Barrow’s Star Service station; where Bonnie and Clyde were skinned; the location of the attempted ambush of Bonnie and Clyde at Esters Road and Highway 183; and both their graves.

The tour will be led by local author, John Neal Phillips, who published, Running with Bonnie and Clyde: The Ten Fast Years of Ralph Fults.
Contact Frank Wilson at: 214.421.4500 x105 or email: frank@dallashistory.org

December 11 – East & South Dallas Historic Discovery Journey
Explore with us! This journey begins in Fair Park— and discusses how the 1936 Centennial put Dallas not only on the Texas Map, but on the world’s stage. Next, a meandering through the streets. surrounding Fair Park reveals the historic homes on South Boulevard (Stanley Marcus, Aaron Spelling). Then on to Bryan Springs, located in the White Rock Creek Forest, where John Neely Bryan and his wife Margaret lived for several years and where Margaret's father settled in 1842. Next stop, McCommas Bluff, a site where in the 1890’s steamboats of partygoers would take daylong excursions from Dallas. Discover the origins of "Scyene Rd" and "Military Parkway" and "Tenison Parkway" and "Belle Starr" the many little communities that are now engulfed in "Big D". Lunch in the Historic Lakewood District of Dallas.

After lunch at the "Dixie House", spend the afternoon discovering little-known areas in East Dallas, including magnificent Swiss Avenue, historic Munger Place, and the charming Lakewood area--the best way to fill a gap in your Dallas history!

Tour led by well known author and historian Dr. Darwin Payne.

These adventures in leisure depart the Hall of State, located in Fair Park, (except for the Deep Ellum Tour) at 9:00 A.M. and return at 2:00 P.M.(allow 1/2 hour either way) Lunch is included in the ticket price of $35 for DHS contributors, $45 for those who aren't yet doing so! Payment at the time of requesting your reservation ensures a seat on the bus. Call Frank at 214-421-4500 x105 or email frank@dallashistory.org for more information or to make your reservation.

DID YOU KNOW…? compiled by Bill Deal

From the autumn of 1865 until his death in October 1870, Robert E. Lee served as (non-teaching) president of Washington College—now known as Washington and Lee University, in Lexington, VA. For most of this time, the threat of an indictment for treason hung over his head.

March 5, 2005:
Emily Croom, BA & MA degrees (history), BA (music)

Unpuzzling Your Past
• Their Place in Time: Broadening the Perspective Beyond Dates and Places
• Likely, Logical, and Convincing: Resolving Conflicting Evidence
• You’re Known by the Company You Keep: Cluster Genealogy, an Essential Tool for Research
• Scaling the Brick Wall

An avid genealogist for more than thirty years, Ms. Croom, a Houston resident, is a member of NGS, the Association of Professional Genealogists (APG), and several local and state genealogical societies. She has taught history and music and is currently teaching genealogy in live and online classes.

She has written a number of family histories and books on genealogical research, including the popular Unpuzzling Your Past, The Genealogist’s Companion and Sourcebook, The Sleuth Book for Genealogists, and A Genealogist’s Guide to Discovering Your African-American Ancestors.

April 2, 2005:
Thomas W. Jones, Ph.D., CG, CGL

Five Ways to Prove Who Your Ancestor Was
• Seven Habits of Highly Effective Genealogists
• Five Ways to Prove Who Your Ancestor Was (Some Reliable and Others Not Reliable)
• Five Proven Techniques for Finding Your Ancestor’s European Origins
• Organizing Evidence to Overcome Record Shortages

During the NGS Conference (21 May 2004), Dr. Jones received the 2004 Grahame T. Smallwood Jr. Award of Merit by the Association of Professional Genealogists (APG) for his leadership role in raising the standards for genealogical research.

The Fairfax, Virginia, resident is widely known for his lectures and articles on using case studies to demonstrate genealogical problem-solving and using the Genealogical Proof Standard, a method to evaluate the credibility of research conclusions.
